IS SECOND EFFORT TO OUST JOHNSTON

Intimidation of Witnesses, Illegal Continuance of Commission in Office Offenses Alleged.

Oklahoma City, Okla., January 18. (AP)—Impeachment charges voted against Governor Henry S. Johnston by the Oklahoma house of representatives reached a total of four late to-night when the house adopted two more of the 10 articles reported to it this morning by its investigating committee.

The house immediately proceeded with the consideration of a fifth charge.

The last two articles adopted are similar in nature, were voted upon in quick succession. Both involved the issuance by the governor of deficiency certificates to provide for the continued operation of the state issues commission after the 1927 legislature did not make appropriations for it.

The first two articles voted alleged the governor had illegally issued a deficiency certificate to the state banking department. The first charge voted was for issuance of a certificate for the fiscal year of 1927-28, the second for a certificate issued for 1928 and 1929.

The vote was 74 to 24 with six absent.

Johnson is the third Oklahoma executive in the last eight years to face impeachment.

Purported impeachment charges were voted by house members against Governor Johnston in December, 1927, but were dismissed by state senators who accepted the state supreme court's ruling that the self-convened session of the legislature was illegal.

One of the charges returned today grew out of the governor's use of national guard troops in an attempt to meet in the state house in 1927.

The remainder of the articles were based on new evidence gathered by the committee this week.

The first charge was based upon the pardoning of Dewey Crosswhite, convicted murderer and fugitive from justice last December 28.

J. W. Mansell, pardon and parole clerk, who was questioned in connection with the Crosswhite clemency, dropped dead today at his home, a victim of heart disease. He was an elderly man.

The second article charged diversion and misappropriation of state funds to J. W. "Buck" Elderidge, special agent for the governor.

Unlawful issuance of deficiency certificates for the state banking department for the two fiscal years running from July 1, 1927, to June 30, 1929, was charged in two articles.

Employment of Kirby Fitzpatrick, an active supporter of the Johnston 1928 campaign and later a political enemy, as a special attorney for the banking department was the basis for another count which alleged the unlawful expenditure of money "pursuant to an illegal contract."

Two articles alleged the unlawful issuance of deficiency certificate to continue the state issues commission. "Unlawful and wrongful attempts

STRUCK BY TRAIN, AGED MAN KILLED

Confederate Veteran
Meets Almost Instant
Death at Hurt Street
Grade Crossing.

J. J. Threlkeld, 83, a Confederate veteran and retired business man, was almost instantly killed about 5:30 o'clock Friday afternoon when he was struck by an Atlanta to Augusta passenger train on the Georgia railroad at the Hurt street grade crossing.

The veteran was taken to Grady hospital by A. M. Harbin, 174 Brantley street, N. E., and C. W. Jernigan, baggage man on the train, but was pronounced dead upon arrival.

Although he did not witness the accident, Harbin stated that he had passed Threlkeld about 40 feet from the crossing walking south with his head down as if meditating, and that he had slowed down his machine to keep from striking him.

"I heard the train whistle as I crossed the tracks," Harbin said, "and after I had traveled a short distance on the other side the locomotive came to a grinding stop. Jumping from my car I ran back to the scene and found the man lying beside the tracks, his head crushed and both legs fractured. Mr. Jernigan and I placed him in my machine and we rushed him to the hospital. The train must have stopped in about three car lengths after striking him."

Threlkeld, who lived with one of his sons at 1103 Hardee street, was en route to his home at the time of the accident after having been out for his "daily walk," according to relatives. "His hearing was defective and he probably never heard nor saw the train," they said.

The locomotive, in charge of Engineer W. H. Wallace and Conductor C. B. Bailey, was due at the Union station at 5:35 o'clock.

Threlkeld is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. B. Whiddy, of Atlanta, and five sons, Earl, Harold, Marion, Hugh and Virgil, with whom he lived. All of Atlanta.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Awtry & Lowndes, undertakers.

SENATE UNABLE TO AGREE ON WEST IN THREE HOURS

Washington, January 18. (AP)—The senate discussed the nomination of Roy L. West, of Chicago, to be the secretary of the interior, for almost three hours today in executive session without reaching a vote. His nomination will be taken up again tomorrow behind closed doors.

All of the articles were based upon the pardoning of Dewey Crosswhite, convicted murderer and fugitive from justice last December 28.

J. W. Mansell, pardon and parole clerk, who was questioned in connection with the Crosswhite clemency, dropped dead today at his home, a victim of heart disease. He was an elderly man.

P. McClain, of 981 Rice street. ### HOOVER TO TAKE CONTROL OF PARTY OUT OF OLD HANDS

Hilles Will Be Deposed in New York and Many States To Witness General Change.

BY JAMES L. WEST,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, January 18. (AP)—A new deal in republican leadership in New York was decreed today by President-elect Hoover, who is expected to take similar action respecting some other states so as to place control of party affairs into the hands of his friends and supporters.

Under the New York plan, worked out at a breakfast conference at the Hoover home, H. Edmond MacHold, state chairman; Charles D. Hilles, national committeeman, and William H. Hill, who holds no official position in the party, were constituted a committee to make recommendations on patronage and to take steps looking to the strengthening of the New York organization.

Chairman MacHold said after the conference, which also was attended by Hill and Ogden Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, that he would act as liaison officer between the committee and Mr. Hoover, reporting after there had been an agreement by the committee of three on recommendations for candidates for federal offices in the state.

While rather unusual, the placing of Mr. Hill upon the committee was not unexpected as he headed the independent New York Hoover-for-President organization, which began to function during the pre-convention campaign, while Mr. Hilles was insisting that the party should either drop President Coolidge or again nominate Charles Evans Hughes. Some political observers here saw in the creation of the committee and the appointment of Mr. MacHold at its head a move for the gradual elimination of Mr. Hilles from party affairs in the Empire state, but at the Hoover headquarters it was said that this was not an accurate interpretation of the situation.

Mr. Hilles has been national committeeman since 1916 and for four years before that time was chairman of the republican national committee, having been selected to conduct the presidential campaign of William Howard Taft in the three-cornered race with Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. MacHold became chairman of the state committee late in the last presidential campaign after the death of George K. Morris. Some of Mr. Hill's friends boomed him for the place and it was the understanding at the time that Mr. Hill played an important part in the selection of Mr. MacHold. MacHold and Hill worked

Automobile Show TO CLOSE TONIGHT

Event Will End With Distinction of Having Made New Records in Attendance and Sales.

Having shattered all existing local records for attendance, sales, variety of exhibits and general excellence, the annual Southeastern Automobile show will come to a brilliant close at 10:30 o'clock tonight, adjudged by public and dealers alike as the greatest one of its kind ever held in Atlanta.

With a total attendance up to closing time Friday night of 35,000, the records for previous years are already broken and today's total is expected to put the mark far ahead of the best previous number. Friday proved to be a record-breaker as an individual day, with more than 14,000 persons passing through the doors.

From the standpoint of sales the records made have been even more sensational. More than 200 automobiles already have been sold off the floor in retail transactions while district distributors have sold or taken dealers' orders for approximately 1,000 cars.

Not only have the motors brought much admiration from the crowds but the complete and effective way in which the vast auditorium has been transformed into a luxurious salon has brought much praise.

At about half an hour before closing time the great ticket-selling contest, which has been running throughout the week, will be brought to a close and the winners will be announced.

Defense Lawyer Assails ATTACK ON DR. THRASH BRINGS LEGAL CLASH

BY TAURICE DOZIER.

The curtain fell on the Harsh trial Friday afternoon after a climax such as playwrights have ever dreamed of but never attained. It was a climax the drama of which left a packed courtroom dazed, mute, gripped to stultification. And it came as unheralded as the ominous clasp of thunder in a cloudless midsummer morning.

It was the effort to impeach the chief alienist for the prosecution who throughout two days had steadfastly testified that all of Harsh's emotions and reactions were "within the range of normal" and who at noon recess on Friday was alleged to have declared that "in view of the early environment, the lack of parental control" and similar circumstances "I do not believe the boy ought to be hanged."

Prosecution attorneys were momentarily stunned by the lightning attack directed by Ben Conyers, of defense counsel, against Dr. E. C. Thrash, and hesitated in interposing objections long enough for Mr. Conyers to declare, "If you say you didn't, I shall prove that you did by a dozen reputable and truthful witnesses. I shall prove that you said you had not testified to this effect because you were a prosecution witness."

The jury was hastily sent from the room as Solicitor Boykin rose to argue to relevancy, the admissibility of such a question.

When the jury had retired, Mr. Conyers demanded of Dr. Thrash: "Did you not declare that you believed Harsh irresponsible to a degree that warranted a life sentence instead of the death penalty? Did you not say that the defense counsel contention was sustained?"

"I did not," replied Dr. Thrash.

But the lightning had struck. The patiently compiled case of the state tottered under the blow. Its very integrity had been impeached. The indelible impression had been left that instead of striving to establish all the light possible on the case it had sought solely to convict with a verdict of death.

With the jury excluded, Dr. Thrash admitted that he had said jokingly he wouldn't hang Harsh, but at the time he said it he was under the impression that the case was closed.

Mr. Boykin argued that the opinion of any witness had no bearing on the case and that opinion as to penalty, especially, was the exclusive right of the jury.

Mr. Conyers declared that the entire trial hinged around the question of responsibility for crime and that the entire chain of evidence had been the conclusions of physicians and psychiatrists as to the degree of responsibility attaching to George Harsh.

The jury was hastily sent from the

GEORGIA OFFICIALS COMMENT TENDER TO COL. SAM TATE

Opinion Expressed That Business Man's Appointment as Road Head
Would Be Good Move.

General satisfaction was expressed by state officials Friday over the publication of the report that Governor L. G. Hardman had tendered to Colonel Sam Tate, of State, Ga., the chairmanship of the state highway board to succeed John N. Holder.

It also was the general opinion that the appointment of such an outstanding Georgian as Colonel Tate to this position would clarify the entire situation relative to a reorganization of the state highway department and was virtually certain to obviate the probability of an extra session of the state legislature.

Political leaders of all factions united Friday in characterizing the reported tender to Colonel Tate as a forward move for the state, not only because of his business ability and capacity as an executive but because of the friendship he bears to leaders of all sides and creeds.

Governor Hardman, Friday did not officially confirm the report that the tender had been made to Colonel Tate, but it was generally accepted as true in political circles. The report was published by The Constitution after it was widely reported in Atlanta hotel lobbies Thursday night and at the state capitol Thursday afternoon that the governor had held a conference with Colonel Tate and that he tendered had been made. Friends of Colonel Tate, who are close to him personally, stated after the conference that the tender had been made to Colonel Tate and that he had agreed to accept the post when it is vacated by Mr. Holder.

It was the general opinion that the situation is now cleared to such an extent that Colonel Tate will be able to reach an amicable agreement with Chairman Holder as to the time the chairman retires and turns over his position to Colonel Tate. For many years Chairman Holder and Colonel Tate have been personal friends and it was indicated that friction over the time when the present chairman retires could be fixed amicably.

The governor had no further comment to make on the situation Friday. It was the general belief at the capitol Friday that the move will clarify the entire situation to a point where there will be no extra session of the state legislature and to a point where the new chairman can assume his duties probably during the regular session of the legislature and possibly even before that time.

Colonel Tate is the head of the Tate Marble company and is one of the outstanding businessmen of the south. He has never held a political office but has had many big business posts with various organizations of a non-political nature throughout his state and the country.

GEORGIA WOMAN HELD FOR MURDER

Mrs. Lulu Delk, of Ludowici, Captured in Florida; Poisoned Husband, Charged to Her.

Jacksonville, Fla., January 18. (AP)—Mrs. Lulu Delk, of Ludowici, Ga., was arrested here tonight on a charge of murdering her husband there several months ago. She was being returned to the Georgia town tonight by Sheriff T. F. Chapman, of Long county, Ga.

Mrs. Delk is wanted in connection with the death of Stoney Delk, her husband, who died mysteriously September 18, last. Two days after his death an autopsy revealed that he died of poisoning.

Mrs. Delk and J. D. Stafford, son of the sheriff of Liberty county, Ga., and who made his home at the Delk residence at Ludowici, were arrested. A coroner's jury exonerated them of any connection with the husband's death.

In October a special session of the Liberty grand jury made an investigation of the case and returned true bills against both Mrs. Delk and Stafford. Stafford was arrested again and released under bond of $5,000. Mrs. Delk, whose former home was here, came here, and while a search has been conducted for her, she was found only today.

Mrs. Delk refused to discuss the charges against her here tonight before leaving for Georgia with the sheriff.

HOWARD PICTURES HARSH 'PHYSICAL, MENTAL WEAKLING'

Conyers Will Make Plea

Boykin Will Deliver
Final Argument for State

ATTACK ON THRASH CAUSES SENSATION

Conyers Charges Expert
He Didn't Believe Harsh
Mentally Capable.

BY L. A. FARRELL.

The last ditch struggle in the gigantic battle for the life of George Rutherford Harsh is on. As the dark shadows of a midwinter night fell upon the Fulton county courthouse Friday William Schley Howard completed one of his famous pleas for the life of a client, the state, through Assistant Solicitor Ed. A. Stephens, already having asked his death in the electric chair for the murder of Willard Smith, drug store manager, slain in a holdup of the McRoberts pharmacy, 802 Boulevard, N. E., on the night of October 15.

The final arguments of the trial got under way late Friday afternoon after a defense attack on a state's witness had created a furore and for a time threatened to imperil the entire structure of Solicitor-General John A. Boykin's attempt to beat down the "inadequate mental capacity" defense put up for the confessed collegiate thrill slayer, who since Tate had been on trial before a jury in Judge E. D. Thomas' division of the superior court.

The clash in the courtroom came as Attorney Ben Conyers, of the defense staff, charged Dr. E. C. Thrash, chief of state's alienists with privately having said that he did not believe Harsh in full possession of his mental capabilities and that he should not be sent to the electric chair.

The courtroom was dazed for a moment, then on the heels of objections by Boykin the jury retired. In the arguments which followed Dr. Thrash explained that he had been "joking" and denied that he had said Harsh's mental condition would not warrant a death sentence. The court recalled the jury and directed that the jurors disregard the question by Mr. Conyers. Dr. Thrash left the stand.

Attorney Howard opened the final arguments for the defense. Mr. Conyers will conclude the defense plea for a life sentence this morning. Solicitor General Boykin in his final appeal for the prosecution will demand the death penalty.

The arguments will be followed by the instructions of Judge Thomas to the jury. In as much as the arguments have been limited to three hours for each side and that more than half of that time has been used, it is expected that the jury will get the case shortly before noon today.

ANDINO SEEN READY FOR NEW OUTBREAK

Rebel To Keep Fighting Until Marines Leave, Aide Declares.

Tegucigalpa, Honduras, January 18. (AP.)—General Augusto Andino, Nicaraguan rebel leader, has been in direct and frequent communication with his representative here for the last week and his renewed activities interpreted in some sources as planning for a new struggle in Nicaragua.

Letters from the rebel leader, whose whereabouts have been a mystery for months, have appeared in local newspapers in the last four days and have been accepted as authentic by well-informed observers. Proyas Turcios, Sandino's representative here, said he recently had received a communication from the general asserting that the revolution would never cease "until the last American marine has left Nicaragua."

At the same time, Turcios said that he did not believe Sandino had ever proposed the division of Nicaragua into two nations and that he was expecting to receive a statement from the rebel leader to show that the rumor of such a proposal was a falsehood.

Turcios further asserted that Sandino's troops were now "stronger than ever and will soon give a terrible and bloody lesson of his military power." This statement added to the belief that Sandino was planning renewed military activity in northern Nicaragua, where the marine and national guard troops have been pursuing the rebel forces recently.

Three letters were published here, pertaining to alleged communications between Brigadier General Logan Feland, of the United States marine corps; Rear Admiral D. F. Sellers, United States navy, and Sandino, in regard to peace moves. The letters, which generally are considered here as genuine, concern offers of Feland and Sellers to meet Sandino and talk over terms of peace.

The rebel general's reply was alleged to have been that he would discuss peace only with Nicaragua representatives and only after every American marine had been withdrawn from Nicaragua.

"If you wish to finish your present dispute and permit the country to enter a period of complete peace, you will need only to communicate your desire to any of the marine detachments," the purported letter from Feland stated. "I have full power to decide if the conditions proposed by you would be acceptable."

Sandino was quoted as replying: "We demand, as the first base, the absolute retirement of the North American forces commanded by you, for our territory. I will discuss peace with President Moncada only after withdrawal of American troops."

He then proposed a conference at San Rafael Del Norte, emphasizing that the marines must be withdrawn first.

This letter made no mention of wild rumors that Sandino suggested the division of Nicaragua.

POLICE DISCARD SUICIDE THEORY IN WOMAN'S DEATH

Greensboro, N. C., January 18.—(AP.)—Discarding their theory of suicide, police today announced they had several persons under observation as suspected murderers of Mrs. Nollie Jones Ballinger, whose body was found here Tuesday with a pistol wound in the heart.

Previously officers had said they believed the woman had killed herself with the small pistol found near her body. The coroner, however, maintained that she had been killed and the coroner's jury returned a verdict that she came to her death at the hands of persons unknown to the jury.

Among the suspects, police said, are four students at Oak Ridge Military academy, near here. The students were seen riding with Mrs. Ballinger Sunday afternoon, two days prior to the discovery of her body. They declined to reveal the names of the boys.

Another suspect, police said, was a young business man of Greensboro who was said by neighbors of Mrs. Ballinger to have been a visitor at her home Sunday night. They declined to reveal his name, but said he had been questioned in connection with the case.

Officers were unable to trace Mrs. Ballinger's movements after Sunday night and said so far as they now knew the suspected business man was the last person to see her alive. His letters found in her room, officers said, but he denied having seen her in two weeks.

TWELVE SENATORS HAVE BREAKFAST WITH COOLIDGE

Washington, January 18.—(AP.)—Twelve senators were guests of President Coolidge at a breakfast party today at the white house.

Present were Overman, of North Carolina; Bayard, of Delaware; Stephens, of Mississippi; Blease, of South Carolina; Walsh, of Massachusetts; Thomas, of Oklahoma; Smith, of South Carolina; and Trammell, of Florida, all democrats; and Gould, of Maine; Burton, of Ohio; Schall, of Minnesota, and Hastings, of Delaware, republicans.

The breakfast was attended also by William F. Butler, former chairman of the republican national committee.

Cleveland, January 18.—(AP.)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was forced back by low visibility late today a half an hour after he had taken off from the municipal port for Bellefonte, Pa. Lindbergh, who is en route to New York, arrived here this afternoon from Indianapolis.

BYRD MURDER TRIAL MAY START THURSDAY

Case Involving Five Defendants Declared Most Spectacular of South Georgia.

Waycross, Ga., January 18.—(Special.)—The trial of five defendants, all facing charges of murder in connection with the mysterious death of Ira Byrd, Pierce county farmer, whose mutilated body was found near Bristol last August, announced for the special term of Pierce county superior court, which opens at Blackshear Monday, probably will not get under way until Wednesday or Thursday, according to an announcement made today by court officials.

Because of the importance of the Byrd case, which is recognized as one of the most spectacular ever called in southern Georgia, it has been considered advisable to call other jail cases on the docket during the early part of the week, clearing the court machinery for the disposition of the Byrd mystery.

Arch Allen, clerk of court, announced today that only 80 jurors have been summoned for appearance Monday morning, but that other panels will be drawn as they are needed. Although the actual trial in the Byrd case will not get under way until later in the week, the selection of a jury is expected to start Monday.

Five grand jury indictments have been returned, all of them for murder. The defendants are Mrs. Ira Byrd, wife of the murdered farmer; Dan Tyre, an uncle of Mrs. Byrd; P. P. Brandon, a resident of the Bristol section of Pierce county and a neighbor of the Byrd family; Levy Smith, another neighbor of the Byrds, and Lawton Dixon, also a resident of the Bristol community.

No indictment has been returned against Odell Wiley, negro farm hand, who also has been held in connection with the case. Wiley, in a statement to Sheriff Olin Robertson, told what he swore to be a "true story" of the crime, in which he identified Brandon as the man who actually struck the blows which resulted in Byrd's death. Wiley told of a plot which he overheard, in which Byrd's death was planned, and explained that Brandon and other members of the gang warned him (Wiley) that they would kill him if he ever told anything he had overheard. The old negro was paid $10 to "keep his mouth shut," he says.

MISSOURI MEERSCHAUM PIPE

PUTS HOME TOWN ON MAP WITH IDEA

Originator Dies, Aged 70

Oakland, Calif., January 18.—(AP.)—Preparations were being made here today for the funeral of Anton A. Tibbe, father of the modern corn cob pipe and the man who put Washington, Mo., on the map as capital of the cob pipe or "Missouri meerschaum" industry.

He died Wednesday at the Livermore sanitarium following a six-months illness. Mr. Tibbe was 70 years old.

Mr. Tibbe's father, Henry Tibbe, a wood worker, hit on the value of corn cob pipes a half century ago while accommodating a neighbor, who asked him to bore out an extra large cob with his lathe, and fashion him a pipe. The elder Tibbe realized the novelty of the pipe and gathered a few cobs and carried on a small pipe manufacturing business, but it remained for his son to put the business over in a big way.

Nearly 20,000 acres of Franklin county, Missouri, land now are devoted to raising the peculiarly large cobs essential to the industry, and several million corn cobs are manufactured yearly at Washington, where several factories do a thriving business. The soil around Washington yields about 4,000 cobs or cob pipes to the acre. The cobs are seasoned for a year before being started through the factory.

The life of the early Missouri meerschaum was exceedingly short because the bowl burned along with the tobacco. Tibbe's contribution to the industry was his discovery of a patented plaster of paris filler which revolutionized the business. This fireproofed the bowl, and the sale of the pipes boomed.

Statistics recently gathered at Washington revealed that Massachusetts led

DIVISION OF CHINA PROPOSED TO CUT MILITARY FORCES

Nanking, January 18.—(AP.)—A concrete scheme for the reduction of the military forces of China has been evolved at a meeting of the disbandment conference. It was decided to divide China into the six areas of Nanking, Loyang, Wuhan, Mukden, Peking and Southwest China.

The military forces of the entire country are not to exceed 65 divisions, each having a total of 11,000 men, making a standing army of 715,000 men. This would entail an annual expenditure of $192,000,000.

The military leaders agreed a unification of the country's financial administration in accordance with proposals made by T. V. Soong, minister of finance. These proposals provided for a centralization of finances and proper budgeting of military expenditure which would be payable by the finance ministry in accordance with apportionments prescribed by the conference.

WALKER ADMITS TEXAS KILLINGS, SAY POLICE

Telegram Indicate Pair Held in Buffalo Have Long Crime Record.

Buffalo, N. Y., January 18.—(AP)—Clyde Roberts, better known as Whitey Walker, one of two men arrested by Buffalo police in connection with murders and robberies alleged to have been committed by the A. C. Pennington gang, the southern, broke down today and, according to Detective Chief Reville, confessed to three killings.

According to the police, Walker, who says his correct name is William J. Walker, admitted to the slaying in Borger, Texas, of Patrick Keynon and Elmer Perry, deputy sheriffs, on April 1, 1927. With him at the time, he said, was his brother, U. Walker, and an Ed Bailey. Walker says he was arrested for that crime and held in bonds of $15,000, but jumped his bail.

Walker also was said by police to have admitted the killing of Coke Buchanan, a policeman, at Stannett, Texas, March 1, 1927.

Denies Colorado Slayings. The prisoner denied all knowledge of the Colorado slayings of which he has been accused.

Walker was arrested in Fort Worth, Texas, in September, 1927, he told police, for robbing the Stock Yard National bank, and again at Coe, Wyo., March 19, 1928, but escaped while being transferred to Escalante, Mont. The prisoner said his first arrest was in Oklahoma in 1922, when he served five years for the theft of an automobile.

Detective Chief Reville said that Walker admitted passing forged money orders of the American Express company, using four names for that purpose. Some express money orders which had been stolen still were in Walker's possession when he was arrested Saturday.

Walker says he is a native of Milan county, Texas, and was born in 1901. Fred Nave, held here with Walker, also wanted in many cities and towns for crimes of various sorts, refused to make any admissions.

Wanted in Texas. While the questioning of the pair was under way, a telegram came from Fred Bowles, sheriff of Pontotoc county, Oklahoma. It stated that Walker was wanted as the leader of the gang that held up a bank at Allen, Okla., Oct. 1, 1927.

"Walker has been positively identified," the telegram read, "Conviction is certain. Curtis Black, member of the gang, given life. Will pay entire reward offered by state if Walker is turned over to me."

Telegrams, letters and telephone calls continue to come from all headquarters from all parts of the southwest. More cities continued to be heard from and in most cases Walker and Nave were wanted for the same reason.

For slaying. Buffalo police have received telegraph requests to hold the two for Austin, Pampa, Fort Worth, Borger and Wellington, Tex.; Pecos, Oklahoma City, Washington, Okla.; Eldorado, Ark.; Colorado Springs, Colorado City and Lamar, Colorado.

The pair, police say, are implicated in eight killings; daylight robberies of banks seem to have been their forte.

BITTER FIGHT FOR LIFE OF GEO. HARSH

mental weaking," driven to ugly crimes by a "master mind," Howard, always a dramatic figure, for an hour and 45 minutes urged in his most picturesque way the merits of the case as presented by the jury to his client, styled always as "that poor boy."

Sometimes compelling with thunderous pronouncedness, sometimes appealing in low and confidential tones and sometimes turning to steady voice reasoning he painted a vivid picture for his audience.

Now he would lean over the rail of the jury box as he made some delicate point, now he would step back and, punctuating his remarks with a decisive sweep of his long arms, would drive home forcefully some fact or opinion. Next a dramatic finger would point to the jury and again that same pointing digit would be directed straight at a personal man, to his emotion or reason.

With broad strokes and with fine touches he drew for his listeners his portrait of the youth, who sat immobile and inscrutable as he sat during the whole trial. The jury and the court were given this picture in many ways and each successive development brought its brief recurrence to that central theme "mercy."

Painted "Without Emotions." As his counsel showed him George Harsh is an abnormal boy. A boy who was cursed from the cradle with constitutional weakness and a disordered mind. He was portrayed as one who has never been capable of giving emotion to one thing, never taken the initiative in any major undertaking, but has blindly followed his "impulses" as suggested by the ever-present urger or "master mind."

At the very outset of his argument the attorney turned to the often mentioned "insanity" and the contention of Mr. Stephens that the defense sought Harsh's freedom through the claims of insanity. Vigorously denying this he stated that the defense sought only mercy and not freedom for the prisoner. The testimony introduced was by way of establishing only that Harsh's peculiar mental makeup warranted the extension of mercy.

Proceeding next to the exact definition of murder he sought to show case quotations that mercy properly may be extended in any case where the jury deems it advisable, and closed this section of his argument with a dramatic quotation of Justice Little's famous saying that "mercy is the highest attribute of man."

He then plunged into the actual review of the case and after a short summary proceeded to the story of the crime, as told by Kirkpatrick, state's witness and clerk in the store when Smith was shot.

Radiating the contention of the state that each step of this holdup was logically planned by a sane man and that Harsh acted during and after the shooting as a sane man would be attempted to show that only when he was being directed by his companions did he act logically and when left alone became incapable of defending himself or acting sensibly.

"The nonchalant way in which he entered the store, the fact that he waited Kirkpatrick aside and allowed the clerk to go behind him as he walked toward Smith were cited as evidence of his disregard of personal danger."

His turning and walking from the store after the shooting even though Smith still had his gun in hand was again offered as proof of Harsh's abnormal conduct.

He then detailed the course pursued by Harsh and his companions after the shooting. He said they went to Sutton's quarters and his companions Mahoney and Gallagher did all the talking. Then to Wright's rooms on Sixteenth street, and here again the companions gave distorted stories of what happened in which Harsh received his wound, while the wounded boy manifested no particular interest.

Then, after Mahoney and Gallagher had gone and Wright asked Harsh how he had been shot, Harsh promptly told him with no effort at evasion.

Ability Is Denied. His final characterization of Harsh as a calculating criminal was that he did not have sense enough to cover his tracks. Nor did the order, he said, have any ability to plan a crime or even execute one without planning, without the aid of his companions, and here again the "master mind" appeared.

The attorney next turned to the evidence as given by several of the "expert" witnesses summoned by the defense. Doctors Eskridge, Carhart, Yarborough, Hardin and Ellis all were mentioned by the counsel and reference to their reputations as "experts" was strengthening the testimony given by them.

Leaving the more concrete aspects of the case, Mr. Howard then turned to the less pertinent questions discussed during the trial and led gradually toward his final plea. This final peroration was brief but impassioned, and he brought it to a close with the reading of a bit of verse extolling the virtues of mercy.

As Attorney Howard completed his argument, the jury rose and a recess until 9 o'clock this morning.

Harsh Called "Pampered." Calling Harsh the petted and pampered son of an indigent family, the attorney urged the jury to show mercy to a young man who, Assistant Solicitor General E. A. Stephens, in the opening argument for the state, demanded that the slayer pay for his crime.

"This boy knowingly and willfully slew the husband of that little widow in black standing over there," the deputy solicitor said, as he pointed to Mrs. Willard Smith, huddled in a corner behind the jury box. "He should be made to pay as every cold-blooded murderer should be made to pay."

The state's attorney read to the court and jury a number of records of the Georgia supreme court on cases which he said were similar to the Harsh case.

Insanity Defense Hit. "There is no basis for an insanity plea in this case," the prosecutor said. "There is no excuse for this crime. Willard Smith was shot down in cold blood. There never was a more brutal murder in the history of Fulton county."

Reading from the records of the supreme court various decisions which said that the accused would be held liable for any crime committed while he was under the influence of liquor, and that insanity was not a defense, he attacked on the home life of the accused slayer, which he traced through the testimony of medical examiners who have appeared for the defense.

Has Every Advantage. "The state has every advantage in this case," the defense attorney said. "He had far greater advantages than the normal youth. He was seen in a private normal school, the Milwaukee Country Day school, the best in his home city."

"When George Harsh asked to be taken from that school his family came to his aid. He was taken on a trip abroad and he was taken around the world. What better education could any boy have had. When he returned from his world trip he was placed in another private and exclusive school at Asheville, N. C., just because it was his wish."

"What happened at the Asheville school? George Harsh was a poor student. He caused the authorities much trouble. Finally he was suspended and later expelled because of his drinking. He was taken back and the same thing happened again. It shows that the criminal in him was breeding them."

Mr. Stephens asserted that it was because of the indulgence of members of the family that Harsh "went wrong." He gave him everything he wanted. "What could you or could anyone else expect from a boy who had been given the things George Harsh had? I do not doubt that he came from good parents. There is no denying that. His father's lifetime seems to have been that of any honorable and upright business man and citizen. Mr. Harsh was a man who, when he died, left his family comfortably fixed. Everything about him and the other members of his family seems to be above the standard. But they gave this boy too much."

The prosecutor asserted that Harsh had had his motor car taken away from him because his family could not control his actions.

Harsh "Too Gay." "He was far too gay and his behavior far too good for him to cope with him," he said. "Yet they let him go out for the purpose to live in a sumptuous apartment and kept his own hours, so much so that he could come and go as he pleased. I have been told that he even came home as late as 4 o'clock in the morning."

In dwelling on the likeness to the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of fiction, Assistant Solicitor Stephens asserted that in his daytime hours Harsh played the part of an honest and upright young man, a son of a prominent family associated only with the best people of the city and was honorable and upright in every way.

Different At Night. "But in the late hours of the night, it was a far different George Harsh, the prosecutor said. "Here we find him roaming about remote and unprotected sections of the city, raiding, at the point of a gun, small stores and shops and shooting down their keepers when they resisted his effort to rob them."

"Harsh is a robber many times over and a cold-blooded cruel murderer. He does not have any place in the scheme of things as outlined by decent society."

Two Pistols Displayed. Taking out the two pistols, one the large caliber army automatic, used by Harsh in his holdup, the other a small bore pistol used by Smith to shoot down the slayer, the prosecutor said that the slayer had used the pistol in the holdup.

"Is this," he pointed to the larger pistol, "the instrument of an insane man?"

"No, it is but part of the preparations made by a shrewd criminal to prevent his felony being detected."

"If this defendant is guilty, why did he pick out the most deadly and efficient weapon obtainable, one used by the United States army? Why did he take out a submachine gun store in a sparsely settled section of Atlanta? Why did he secure a fast car for his getaway? Why did he keep a pistol in his pocket?"

"A lunatic never makes preparations. A lunatic never reasons logically. Those preparations were made by a shrewd man."

Evening of Holdup. Passing on to the actual holdup in which Smith was slain, Mr. Stephens told of how Harsh walked to the back of the store, how he told Smith to come out, how Smith shot in defense of his employer's property, and how Harsh, wounded in the hip, returned the fire with the large caliber weapon.

Sketching the circumstances to illustrate his point that the holdup and slaying had been committed by a "cold felon" and not by an insane man.

He told of the careful preparations of Harsh to avoid pursuit by going to the back of the store, and how he eventually went to St. Joseph's hospital, where the bullet was removed. He recalled that two different cars were used that night by Harsh. He said this was to prevent pursuit. The bloody clothing of the defendant was laid out on the jury railing.

Missing Laundry Mark. "The collar with its tell-tale laundry mark is missing," he said. "Would an insane man have been clever enough to have taken these precautions?" he challenged.

"And his excuses for the wound. 'Shined and fell,' he told the school authorities. 'Had a fight,' he told his friends. Were those the excuses of an insane man?"

Stephens made his parting shot, "these things are not done by crazy people—they're done by shrewd men."

Stephens concluded at 5:15 p. m. after one hour and 30 minutes of argument, leaving an hour and 30 minutes for Boykin's concluding argument today.

The clash between opposing counsel of the reported quotation of Dr. E. C. Thrash marked the close of the state's rebuttal, which had been repeated when the defense announced that its presentation had been completed.

Dr. Thrash Recalled. Dr. Thrash had been recalled to the stand by Solicitor Stephens to testify as to his knowledge of the machine used by Dr. Harsh to examine Harsh by the "radiating air waves" from his body.

The state's chief of medical staff

launched into a long discussion of what he termed the demerits of the Abrams machine, saying that several years ago he had been invited to inspect one of the type while visiting in Chicago, adding that he intended to purchase one for use in his offices here if he found it satisfactory.

"How did you find the machine?" Boykin asked.

"I decided not to buy it," Dr. Thrash responded.

"In your opinion, is it at this day relating for the purpose to which it was intended?" Boykin asked.

"Worth Nothing." "No, I do not think it is worth anything to the medical profession," Dr. Thrash said.

"What do you think of osteopathy as practiced by Dr. Harsh?" Mr. Conyers asked Dr. Thrash.

"I think it is the bunk," the state's witness responded.

"What do you think of Dr. Harsh?" Mr. Conyers asked.

"I think he is the bunk, too," the state's witness answered.

Statement of Thrash. "How about the statement you made in the corridors this morning that you did not think Harsh ought to go to the chair, but that you would not go on the stand and say so because you are a state's witness?" Conyers asked.

"The courtroom was in an uproar."

Boykin was on his feet instantly demanding that Judge Thomas rule on the question of the witness's conduct.

The witness repeated the question. The witness grew uneasy. A wave of conversation swept the courtroom.

Bailiffs rapped in vain for order and Judge Thomas had to shout for the instructions to sheriff's deputies to escort the jury to its room while he decided the point at issue.

Attorney Conyers argued at length over the admissibility of the answer to be made by Dr. Thrash. Judge Thomas finally ordering that the witness explain to members of the jury the reasons for his answer.

Statement Made "Jokingly." "I did say jokingly that I did not think I should send Harsh to the electric chair," Dr. Thrash said. "I said that in the spirit of a joke and that I would not go on the stand and swear that he should be sent there."

"You did not say that you thought Harsh was a lunatic, did you?" Conyers asked.

"No, I did not," Dr. Thrash answered.

The court announced that it would not be permitted to be recited before the jury and in giving his instructions to the jury he would direct that they pay no attention to the statement of Dr. Thrash.

Conyers put the question. Dr. Thrash left the stand and the jury was returned to the courtroom to hear the final argument.

Machine Under Fire. The recalling of Dr. Thrash by the state was for the express purpose of challenging the practicability of the machine Dr. Harsh used in his defense.

Dr. Harsh, a graduate of a medical and osteopathic school, asserted that by the use of the Abrams vibrating machine he was able to determine the exact physical and mental condition of the patient through the "radio waves" emitted from the body by his machine.

Dr. Harsh had testified near the close of the morning session, the final rebuttal of the defense, that he had used the machine in his office in the Grand theater building.

He recalled that two different cars were used that night by Harsh. He said this was to prevent pursuit. The bloody clothing of the defendant was laid out on the jury railing.

Missing Laundry Mark. "The collar with its tell-tale laundry mark is missing," he said. "Would an insane man have been clever enough to have taken these precautions?" he challenged.

"And his excuses for the wound. 'Shined and fell,' he told the school authorities. 'Had a fight,' he told his friends. Were those the excuses of an insane man?"

Stephens made his parting shot, "these things are not done by crazy people—they're done by shrewd men."

Stephens concluded at 5:15 p. m. after one hour and 30 minutes of argument, leaving an hour and 30 minutes for Boykin's concluding argument today.

The clash between opposing counsel of the reported quotation of Dr. E. C. Thrash marked the close of the state's rebuttal, which had been repeated when the defense announced that its presentation had been completed.

Dr. Thrash Recalled. Dr. Thrash had been recalled to the stand by Solicitor Stephens to testify as to his knowledge of the machine used by Dr. Harsh to examine Harsh by the "radiating air waves" from his body.

The state's chief of medical staff

launched into a long discussion of what he termed the demerits of the Abrams machine, saying that several years ago he had been invited to inspect one of the type while visiting in Chicago, adding that he intended to purchase one for use in his offices here if he found it satisfactory.

"How did you find the machine?" Boykin asked.

"The courtroom was in an uproar."

cross-examination of Dr. Harsh, which opened the afternoon session, centered his attack on the machine used by the osteopath in determining Harsh's condition.

Use by Others. "Is that machine used by any other medical man in the city of Atlanta?" he asked.

"None that I know of," the witness responded.

Is it in use in any accredited medical school in the United States?" Boykin asked.

"Yes," the doctor said. "One school in San Francisco teaches it and the use of it only."

"Was that school founded by Dr. Abrams, the inventor of the machine, and his associates?" the prosecutor wanted to know.

Founded by Abrams. "I believe it was," said Dr. Harsh. "Then it appears that the only organization or school using the machine is the one founded by its inventor and his associates?" Boykin said.

"No," the witness replied. "It is the only school that I know of that is authorized to give instructions concerning its use."

The solicitor general then attempted to learn from Dr. Harsh if there was not some taint on the professional reputation of the inventor of the machine at the time of his death two years ago. Dr. Harsh replied that to his knowledge there was not, that until the time of his death, Dr. Abrams was a prominent member of the University of California and held the respect and highest esteem of his fellow medical practitioners.

The appearance of Dr. Harsh at the conclusion of the morning session provided a bit of spice to the trial which for the time being had been devoid of any noticeable thrill.

The witness, a crowd of spectators which filled every nook and corner of Judge Thomas' court room.

Policeman Called. The state in concluding its rebuttal testimony at the opening of the session, called to the stand Patrolman W. G. Patrick, a policeman who found Harsh's blood-stained underwear on Peachtree road early on the morning of October 17, the day after Smith was slain.

Patrolman Patrick testified that he found the underwear, torn into bits, by the side of the road. It is the state's contention that it had been deposited there by Harsh's alleged accomplice, Dick Gallagher, also under indictment for murder in the slaying of Smith.

When the jury returned the defense closed.

Theories Played Upon. After four days of testimony ranging from the stark reality of a 45-cent a day clash between a poor man and a rich man to the vibrations in the odor of a violet, George Harsh's fate was definitely in the hands and minds of a jury.

There was only one hope of prosecution which scouted the theory of irresponsibility engendered by lack of emotional and volitional control sought to impugn the case on the firm base of murder committed while attempting to rob in the consciousness of need of funds, and the pleas of the defense admitting the physical fact of the crime, but denying the intent to the presentation of the metaphysical fact of a brain cloud.

The fourth day of that trial brought out the age-old clash between the science of medicine and any theory setting forth the possibility or the reality of diagnosis and cure by any other method than the use of the microscope, the X-ray and the laboratory.

It brought out a condensed general outline of science with the discussion of matter as inflexible and the possibility of what he termed "mechanical" treatment. He said that he had found Harsh normal in nearly every way and within the range of normal in the vital parts of his anatomy.

Dr. Sallie Poole, an attaché at Ogden and Jack Anderson, a low golfer were called by the state in its effort to refute the testimony of the alienists concerning Harsh's disposition.

Both admitted they thought him retiring and reticent but added that they did not believe that he was of unsound mind.

The state then called Dr. J. C. Massee, X-ray expert, who assisted its chief alienist, Dr. Thrash in photographing Harsh's organs. Dr. Massee checked his photographs to report that he had found Harsh normal in nearly every way and within the range of normal in the vital parts of his anatomy.

Harsh has a slight curvature of the spine but no more than a large percentage of other persons," Dr. Massee said. "There are several body scars but I could find no evidence of emotional instability."

Massee went over his X-ray photographs both on direct and on cross-examination. They differed but little from those of Dr. Thrash which were exhibited to the jury at Thursday afternoon's session.

Family Doctor Recalled. The state also recalled to the stand Dr. George R. Carhart, of Milwaukee, the Harsh family physician who had been a defense witness and again called Dr. Thrash. Dr. Carhart was called to clear up several points in his cross-examination and Dr. Thrash gave minor details of his examination which Solicitor-General Boykin said he had overlooked in the direct examination of the chief of the state's alienist testimony Thursday.

The state then closed its case and the rebuttal of the defense got under way with the recalling of Dr. Beverly Tucker of Richmond, an X-ray specialist who had been a potent factor in presentation of the mental instability plea Thursday. Dr. Tucker cleared up some points which were not stressed on particularly in his earlier testimony. He was not cross-examined.

Students Called. The defense wound up its presentation previous to the summoning of Dr. Harsh by placing upon the stand Cy B. Oglethorpe, football player, a friend of the defendant, and Fred Boynton, a fellow student at Oglethorpe, who was in the same dormitory apartment with Harsh.

Both testified that he knew Harsh fairly well but that the defendant was moody and did not mix much with his fellow students. He said that on one occasion he and Harsh went to a football game between two prep schools in Piedmont park, but that Harsh displayed no interest in the game, choosing to lie on the grass and wait for him until the game had been completed. On cross-examination he testified that he had not known Harsh to take much of an interest in football life either at or away from the university. Boynton also testified that Harsh was moody and retiring.

At one point in his highly technical testimony Mr. Boykin interrupted to object on the ground that Dr. Harsh was needlessly protracting the trial with suppositions and theories which were discredited by the medical profession. Dr. Harsh replied that he had presumed the object of the trial was to arrive at the truth and not to save time or to hurry. He said that he considered it his duty to thoroughly explain his opinions even if it took ten years. And he was upheld by the court.

Mr. Boykin, on cross-examination, asked if Dr. Abrams had not died while still under indictment for practicing medicine without a license in the United States or in Europe used the Abrams apparatus.

Dr. Harsh vehemently denied the charge, saying an indictment against the California physician, a fact that there had never been voted an indictment. He declared that Dr. Abrams was a member of the American Medical association at the time of his death and that he was the professor of pathology at the University of California at the time of his death.

Upholds Objection. Mr. Boykin asked if it were not true that blood from a chicken's comb had been identified as blood by a female human by Dr. Abrams and Judge Thomas upheld an objection to the question, declaring that Dr. Abrams was not on trial and was not present to defend himself.

The theory of a metaphysical and mechanical conception of the body came with the introduction of Dr. Thrash as rebuttal witness. It provided a direct attack on the Abrams theory and the Abrams detector which Abrams was declared to be an irresponsible quack and sophist. The blood rushed to Dr. Thrash's face as he exerted himself to denounce Abrams and defend allopathy against any encroachment. He related his experience with the apparatus when he admitted in a receptive frame of mind he had gone to see a demonstration of the machine with the view to installing one in his own office. And he said that the experiment had been a dismal failure.

Spectacular Climax. At that point Mr. Conyers began his approach to the spectacular climax which drew the curtain on one of the most absorbing trials in the history of Georgia criminology.

He asked Dr. Thrash if he had wholeheartedly accepted the theory of wireless telegraphy when Marconi first announced his discovery. He wished to know if he had believed ten years ago that it would be possible to hear in Atlanta the tinkling of a bell in a Chinese garden. He asked why Dr. Thrash had not joined forces with the Wright brothers if he did not discount the possibility of flight.

As they were comprehended, the murmur ever-present in large crowds, changed to a stillness, a silence of suspended animation.

Those hundreds who had almost

Dr. M. C. Hardin, last of the defense technical experts, was called to the stand early in the afternoon on his findings as to the mental and physical condition of Harsh. He prefaced his recital, under questioning, with a statement that he held no degrees in medicine, osteopathy, divinity and law and that he had studied electricity for three years at Georgia Tech in 1918, having himself with all avenues opened by the Abrams invention of an apparatus, is said to detect disease by registering the vibrations peculiar to matter attracted by a specific infection. He said that he was the son of a minister and had applied himself to theology, receiving his degree in the subject and later discovering that he was unqualified for that line of endeavor. He said that he had studied medicine, law and osteopathy and had been in attendance at the German universities.

He then launched into the exposition of radiosity of matter and the possibility of what he termed "mechanical" treatment. He said that he had found Harsh normal in nearly every way and within the range of normal in the vital parts of his anatomy.

Harsh has a slight curvature of the spine but no more than a large

Stoical Calm Finally Shaken

JUST REALIZING FLIGHT, OBSERVERS BELIEVE "Junie" Is Plainly Worried

With the coming of the formal demand that he pay for the murder of Willard Smith by dying in the electric chair, "Junie" Harsh has lost his air of indifference. He is worried.

When his trial opened Tuesday and the selection of the jury got under way, Harsh sat with his brother-in-law, J. S. Dismay, unperturbed by the fate that confronted him. Tuesday afternoon, when the taking of testimony got under way his mother, Mrs. George Harsh, of Milwaukee, took the seat occupied by Mr. Dismay, but for three days Harsh sat motionless, save for a brief conversation occasionally with his mother.

It was different Friday.

Washington Social Heads Stirred Over Move To Bar Wife of Negro Congressman

Congressional Club Plan Under Way To Permit Use of "Black Ball" Against Mrs. De Priest.

Washington, January 18.—Social leaders of the congressional set in Washington were revealed to be in a stir today over a movement that has been launched with a view of drawing the "color line" in accepting membership in the Congressional club.

The club, composed of wives of members of congress and women in Washington official life, is said to be having the way for use of the "black ball" against the wife of Oscar De Priest, negro congressman-elect, who will take the oath of office at the beginning of the next session as the successor to the late Representative Marvin B. Madden, of Chicago.

According to information published by the Washington Post today, Mrs. Albert H. Vestal, wife of Representative Vestal, of Indiana, republican whip of the house, has offered an amendment to the by-laws of the club which would permit the rejection of applications for membership. The amendment is to be voted on February 6 and a spirited discussion is expected to take place.

The Congressional club is recognized by congress, having been incorporated by it in 1908. Mrs. Peter Goetz, of Indiana, wife of the senator from Rhode Island, is president, while Mrs. Henderson, wealthy Washington society leader, Mrs. Clyde Kelly, wife of the Pennsylvania congressman, Mrs. Finis Garrett, of Tennessee, wife of the democratic leader in the house, together with Mrs. Allen W. Barkley, of Kentucky; Mrs. Wesley Jones, of Washington; and Mrs. John B. Aswell, of Louisiana, all wives of senators and congressmen.

Present rules of the club provide that the wife of a member of congress is ipso facto eligible to membership in the social organization. Invitations to join have gone out in the past as a matter of course. In fact, the new representative's wife was sought as a member.

Thus the perturbation which has manifested itself within the circle. Not only his wife but other immediate women of De Priest's family are eligible.

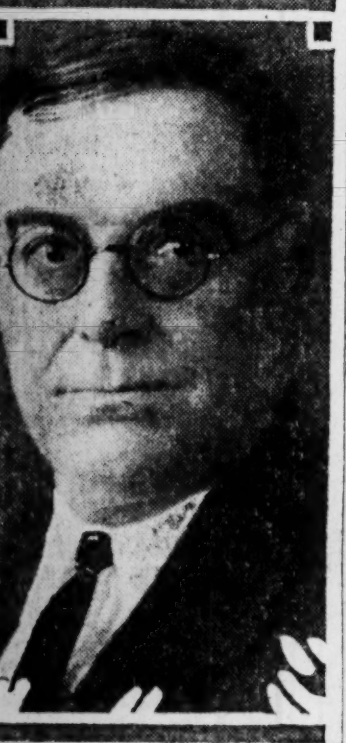

The amendment put forward by Mrs. Vestal provides that an applicant must have the endorsement of one or more active members of the club. If the report of the committee is unfavorable the applicant shall be denied membership in said club.

Officers of the club were reticent when asked to discuss the incident today, but word has gone the rounds that fine fireworks may be expected when the proposal comes up for a vote soon.

BEST INVESTMENT NEVER MADE, SAYS HENRY SCHAFER

Well-Known Real Estate Owner Declares He Feels 20 Years Younger Since Taking Sargon.

"I've answered a lot of questions lately about what it is that has made a great change in my looks and I tell everybody it is all due to Sargon and that this medicine is wonderful. It's made me feel twenty years younger."

HENRY SCHAFER.

"It was the best investment I ever made when I bought Sargon for my stomach had been giving me no end of trouble for eight months and I was losing ground all the time. I felt completely let down and didn't have a bit of life or pep about me. My appetite was poor and I suffered continually with indigestion and gas. I was nervous and constipated nearly all the time and I got so I couldn't sleep more than an hour or two at a time."

"I heard people everywhere talking about the wonderful results they were getting from this new Sargon treatment so I decided to try it myself. I got both the Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills and I will tell anybody that they do exactly what everybody says they do. Why, I haven't felt so well in years. I eat three hearty meals a day and never have a sign of indigestion, gas or a trace of pain or distress. My nerves are steady and my sleep is so sound and refreshing I get up every morning feeling rested and full of energy."

"Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills are real medicines. They are different from anything I ever heard of and you can tell from the very first few doses that they are doing you good. I wouldn't be without them around the house and it is a pleasure for me to recommend them after what they have done for me."

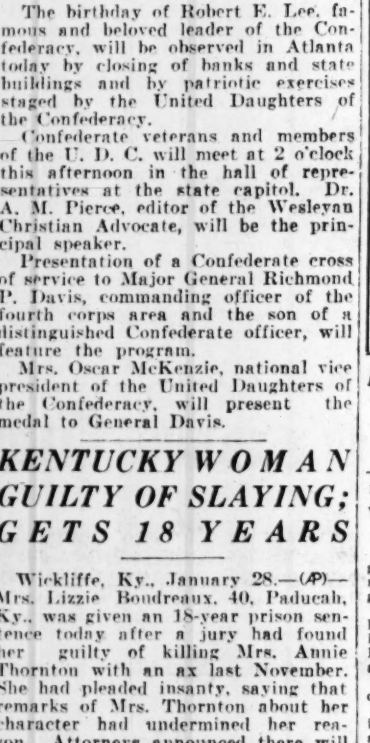

The above statement was made recently by Mr. Henry Schaffer, 292 Cathedral Place, St. Paul, Minn., a well-known property owner and investor of that city.

Why Sargon accomplishes such amazing results is being explained by the Sargon Representative at Jacobs' Main Store, 6 and 8 Marietta St., where hundreds are calling daily to learn more of the powers of the Sargon treatment. Sargon may also be obtained at the other Jacobs' Stores all over Atlanta.—(adv.)

DEATH AND INJUNCTION DELAY ARMY DECISION

Commissioner Haines Collapses as Booth Takes Fight to Court.

Sunbury-On-Thames, Eng., January 18.—(AP)—Death and the courts abruptly checked today the high council of the Salvation Army at its self-imposed task of selecting a successor to General Bramwell Booth. This business now will wait until Tuesday if not longer.

Commissioner William Haines, vice president of the council and one of the delegation which requested the resignation of the general, collapsed and died in the council chamber at the climax of a stormy day. He had concluded a short time before an impassioned speech to his colleagues.

General Booth and his followers successfully blocked for the moment the attempt of the council to separate him from leadership and control of the army founded by his father. A chancery court in London granted an injunction restraining the council from acting on their resolution for removing the general as unfit. The injunction was telephoned to Sunbury court so that the council might not anticipate it by quick action. It was reported to have caused a furore among the members, although the precincts of the meeting place were as strictly guarded as ever.

Commissioner Haines was managing director of the Salvation Army Life Assurance society and had been international secretary for Europe with headquarters in London. He was famed for his successful organization of community choruses. He was in his fifties.

W. A. Greene, who made application to the court on behalf of General Booth, represented the matter as one of urgency as the council must proceed to election at any moment. He argued that a deadlock poll of 1904 executed by the late General William Booth for the sole purpose of providing for the event of a general ceasing to perform the duties of his office was ultra vires (beyond the lawful capacity) because the trustee of a charitable trust could not refuse to hear the general or his council.

The judge thereupon granted an injunction until Monday, when the council of the writ and a short notice of the motion for Monday.

This totally unexpected development caused an extraordinary commotion in the council, which adjourned until Tuesday. It was just at that point that Commissioner Haines collapsed.

SAYS WE WORSHIP GOD OF PROSPERITY; GUESS HE'S RIGHT

Garden City, N. Y., January 18.—The Right Rev. Charles E. Fiske, Protestant Episcopal bishop of central New York, fears the world is worshipping the "god of prosperity," that modern American civilization "conceives God as a magnificent Rotarian and practices sanctified commercialism as Christianity." He gave his views at the synod of the province of New York, New Jersey and Porto Rico.

S. C. WOULD LOAN FLOODED DISTRICT FARMERS MILLION

Columbia, S. C., January 18.—(AP)—A bill to authorize the state finance committee to borrow $1,000,000 to be used for purchasing cotton, seed and fertilizers for farmers in any stricken area in South Carolina was offered in the state senate today.

GIL QUARREL WILL BE DIGNIFIED BUT HARD

D. Rockefeller, Jr., who now is on his way to Egypt, from a stockholder in the Indiana company whose name was not disclosed, and answered by T. M. Debevoise, a Rockefeller associate.

"I am in receipt of your circular letter under date of January 17," read the letter from the unnamed stockholder, "requesting proxy for the stockholders' meeting of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. I have been asked by several other stockholders who seem to have been solicited to send in their proxies to present officers of the company, as to whether they should do so or not. I have no facts upon which to base an opinion excepting newspaper reports and would like to know confidentially whether you have any information or whether it is your opinion that Colonel Stewart had originally intended keeping the bonds he had possession of for his own personal use or not. If this point was stressed in the newspaper reports I failed to see it and if not inconsistent, would be glad to receive any information you have on the subject or if you have no definite information, your opinion, which I will keep confidential, if you wish."

The bonds referred to evidently were the Continental Trading company bonds which Stewart was called before the senate to testify about in connection with its oil investigation. After his testimony Rockefeller called on him to resign and Stewart refused. Then Rockefeller set out to oust him.

"We have no information," Debevoise wrote in reply to the stockholder for Rockefeller, "that Colonel Stewart originally intended to keep for his personal use the Continental Trading company bonds that were in his possession so long and we do not wish to express any opinion in regard to this or many other questions which naturally arise in connection with the whole transaction and with Colonel Stewart's attitude toward the senate investigation and his testimony before the senate committee. If Mr. Rockefeller started to make such comments on the subject with Colonel Stewart would rapidly fall from the high plane on which he thinks it should be kept. He feels that the confidence of the public in the Standard Oil Company of Indiana has been seriously impaired and that it cannot be restored without a change in leadership. We believe that in this feeling a majority not only in interest but a majority in number agree with Mr. Rockefeller, and we are very anxious that everyone be encouraged to join with us."

Neither Stewart nor Rockefeller would make any definite prediction how the battle would go on March 7, when the annual meeting of the oil company takes place and by then the stockholders it is determined whether Colonel Stewart remains as chairman or whether he is pushed aside by the Rockefeller strength.

City Councilman Pays Fine of $6 In Traffic Case

Even the city fathers are not exempt from the laws they help to make. It was definitely shown Friday afternoon when Councilman W. E. Saunders appeared in Recorder A. W. Callaway's court and was fined $6 for illegal parking.

Mr. Saunders is a member of the traffic committee of city council and long has been an advocate of stringent traffic law enforcement as a preventative of accidents. Following the recent publication of the figures on traffic accident deaths in Atlanta during 1921 he was one of many city officials who saw the need of strict law enforcement and endorsed a sustained "drive" on violators.

Wednesday Mr. Saunders was "given a ticket" by Patrolman E. J. Corington and Arthur Dailey after they had found his auto parked near a "No Parking" sign. As they were making out the slip the councilman gave his name. Recognizing it, one of the officers asked if he were Councilman Saunders. Receiving an affirmative answer one of the policemen suggested that Mr. Saunders be taken to the station, see a lieutenant and try to get the charges dropped.

This Mr. Saunders declined to do. He appeared, pleaded guilty, paid his fine and as he was leaving complimented the court and the officers on the splendid performance of their duty.

7TH BOMB OF YEAR ROCKS APARTMENT IN WINDY CITY

Chicago, January 18.—(AP)—A dynamite bomb exploded in the hallway of a six-flat building on the west side shortly after midnight today, tearing a hole in the floor. None of the persons living in the building was hurt, though the entire structure was shaken.

Anthony Panick, owner, blamed labor troubles. It was the seventh bomb of the year in Chicago. He threw the 32,000 shares of Standard Oil Company of Indiana to the support of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in the latter's fight to oust Colonel Robert W. Stewart from chairmanship of the board of directors.

Giannini said late today that he understood several other San Franciscans who held large blocks of Standard Oil of Indiana stock had sided with Rockefeller. He was confident, he said, that Rockefeller would win.

JOHN D. SENIOR ASKS TO BE EXCUSED. Daytona Beach, Fla., January 18.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Sr., today formally begged to be excused from making any statement elaborating on his plans to support his son in the Standard Oil of Indiana battle.

The aged magnate's note, written by his secretary from dictation, was transmitted to all inquirers for information. It said: "We must ask to be excused from saying anything for publication."

Mr. Rockefeller went about his day program in an untroubled manner.

LOWER UNIT TAKES UP HARDY IMPEACHMENT

Judge Contends He Was Within Rights in Taking Aimee Fee.

Sacramento, Cal., January 18.—(AP)—The question whether to impeach Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy, of Los Angeles, "for misdemeanor in office" in connection with receiving a fee of $2,500 from Aimee Semple McPherson, the evangelist, today occupied the attention of the lower house of California's legislature.

Judge Hardy admitted getting the fee from Mrs. McPherson, but contended that it had nothing to do with the conspiracy charges filed against the evangelist in 1920, which were later dismissed.

The controversy in the assembly was launched today with the introduction of a resolution calling for the impeachment of the judge. The measure was backed by the Los Angeles delegation. Many members of the assembly were opposed to impeachment and most of the day was taken up in debating the matter. Some members were understood to be preparing substitute resolutions calling for an investigation of the charges against Judge Hardy.

Objectors to the impeachment resolution contended that the legislature had no statement of facts proving the impeachment of the judge. The measure was backed by the Los Angeles delegation. Many members of the assembly were opposed to impeachment and most of the day was taken up in debating the matter. Some members were understood to be preparing substitute resolutions calling for an investigation of the charges against Judge Hardy.

Judge Hardy was recently dropped from membership in the American Bar association because of the McPherson fee episode.

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB, ACTIVE IN WELFARE WORK, IS DEAD AT 52

New York, January 18.—(AP)—Sophie Irene Loeb, author, lecturer and social worker, died this evening in Memorial hospital after a long illness. She was born in Russia, July 4, 1870, but had lived in America almost 47 years.

During a career of active welfare work which she entered 20 years ago, Miss Loeb traveled through Europe and the United States conducting surveys and speaking in support of welfare legislation. She led the campaign that resulted in the passage of the New York state widows' pension law, and laws ordering motion picture houses to be sanitary and fireproof; bonding of taxicab drivers on relief for the poor, and public play streets for children in congested areas of New York. As the first woman in a New York strike she effected settlement of a labor dispute in the taxicab business in 1917.

She addressed the legislatures of Missouri, Florida and Mississippi, aided strengthening of mothers' aid laws in those states.

In all her child welfare work she served without pay. She was president of the Child Welfare Committee of America.

SAVANNAH'S TOTAL PROPERTY VALUE IS ASSESSED $78,341,777

Savannah, Ga., January 18.—(P)—Savannah's total assessed property value as of December 31, 1928, was $78,341,777, according to the annual report of the board of tax assessors, which has just been submitted to Mayor Haynes.

Real estate assessments totaled $56,828,558 and personal property $21,513,219.

The tax assessors, together with Mayor Haynes, have advocated a reassessment, asserting that returns, especially from personal property, were too low.

They urge a reassessment to be made at an early date, on scientific lines, preferably by an appraisal company.

The 1928 report suggests that either a longer time be given the board to examine personal returns, or provisions be made for field men to visit business houses and residences with a view of checking their findings against the returns as filed.

Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic

Is strong in Quinine; in fact it contains all of the combined tonic principles of Quinine Bark. Any well-informed Druggist or Physician knows that all four active principles of the Quinine Bark combined are better than any one of these alkaloids alone. This is the reason why the Quinine in GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is more effective than ordinary Quinine.

Quinine has a more decided Strengthening, Invigorating Effect when combined with small doses of Iron. The Iron used in GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is especially treated, it does not discolor the teeth or injure the enamel and it agrees with the stomach better than the other forms of Iron. Very pleasant to take. Price 60c.

130 CADETS ARE SAVED AS SCHOOL IS BURNED

Devon, Pa., Jan. 18.—(P)—The Valley Forge Military academy, formerly known as the Devon Park hotel, was destroyed by fire early today, with a loss estimated at $500,000. An attempt to extinguish the blaze with hand apparatus proved fruitless and a buzzer was called to sound assembly.

More than 130 cadets and military instructors fled out of the building in their pajamas and sought shelter from the cold in nearby homes. The origin of the fire was undetermined. Major Milton G. Baker, superintendent, said the loss was covered by insurance and that rebuilding of the academy would be started as soon as possible.

The structure, for 30 years one of the most fashionable hostesses in the suburbs of Philadelphia, was occupied by the academy last September.

Boozville Dislikes Its Name, So Plans Are Up for Change

Rome, Ga., January 18.—(P)—The suburb of Boozville is on the verge of losing its name.

Ever since the enactment of national prohibition the question of changing the pre-Volsteadian identity has agitated the place and now it looks like the issue is to be decided one way or another.

Two men have started a well-defined movement to do away with it in favor of a name more in keeping with its present state of sobriety. A showdown is expected soon.

The place is a suburb of Lindale, three miles from here, but contrary to the impression of some it did not derive its name from the generally accepted slang for alcoholic beverages. It, so old resident says, was named after a man named Booz who once owned all the property that the suburb now embraces.

130 CADETS ARE SAVED AS SCHOOL IS BURNED

Devon, Pa., Jan. 18.—(P)—The Valley Forge Military academy, formerly known as the Devon Park hotel, was destroyed by fire early today, with a loss estimated at $500,000. An attempt to extinguish the blaze with hand apparatus proved fruitless and a buzzer was called to sound assembly.

More than 130 cadets and military instructors fled out of the building in their pajamas and sought shelter from the cold in nearby homes. The origin of the fire was undetermined. Major Milton G. Baker, superintendent, said the loss was covered by insurance and that rebuilding of the academy would be started as soon as possible.

The structure, for 30 years one of the most fashionable hostesses in the suburbs of Philadelphia, was occupied by the academy last September.

OPPOSITION TO WEST KEEPS UP IN SENATE

Solons Debate Over Confirmation for Three Hours Without Result.

Washington, January 18.—(P)—Taking up the nomination of Roy O. West, of Chicago, to be secretary of interior, the senate spent almost three hours today arguing whether his case should be discussed in open or secret session. After three roll calls it was decided to keep the case behind closed doors and debate on the nomination went over until tomorrow.

Senators Nye of North Dakota, and Norris of Nebraska, republicans, who are opposing West's nomination, urged the open session and recalled that all the hearings on West's nomination before the lands committee were open to the public. Friends of the secretary insisted upon the regular procedure and two-thirds vote to open the doors was not available.

By a vote of 38 to 34 the senate also refused to make public the two roll calls by which it was decided to keep the discussion in executive session.

Senator Deneen, republican, Illinois, is leading the forces supporting West's nomination and he, therefore, being the contest today. Friends of the secretary are confident of the votes for his confirmation but they are doubtful whether a vote will be reached by tomorrow.

Finally getting down to business today, the senate received a report by Senator Glenn of Wisconsin, from the lands committee which recommended to 4 to 4 to recommend the confirmation of the secretary and a minority report was submitted by Chairman Nye of the committee.

Senators Nye and Norris and others against his confirmation are opposed to West principally because of his investments in the Samuel Insull Power Utility companies.

MOULTRIE BANKER, R. J. CORBETT, DIES; FUNERAL SATURDAY

Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the Moultrie National bank, head of a big tobacco warehouse company here and a large stockholder in a number of other corporations, died this afternoon at Thomaston, where he had been a patient in the John D. Archbold Memorial hospital for three weeks.

His death resulted from a heart attack and complications and for nearly a week it had been known that he could not recover.

A memorial service will be held for him at his late home here Saturday morning at 11 o'clock after which the body will be carried to Currie, N. C., for burial. Mr. Corbett was unmarried.

His brother and several nieces and nephews survive.

Born near Currie, in 1867, Mr. Corbett came to Macon when the timber industry of North and South Carolina was passing the crest and its outposts were being extended to the practically unbroken pine forests of south Georgia.

The rugged life of the open country appealed to him, and he picked the wide and thinly populated spaces near Baxley for the beginning of his career as a lumberman. He was without capital and his first work was as a laborer at a turpentine still, but within a few years had acquired vast holdings and was considered one of the biggest sawmill operators in south Georgia.

Although rated as one of this section's wealthy men, Mr. Corbett did not retire. He moved to Moultrie where he went into banking and other lines of business, in which he was notably successful.

12 MONTHS' TERM IS GIVEN CHAPPELL IN LARCENY CASE

Convicted on a charge of larceny after trust, C. E. Chappell was given a 12 months' sentence Friday by Judge Jesse Wood, of the criminal court of Atlanta. Chappell was charged with having appropriated for his own use the sum of $25 alleged to have been given him by Joe Mullins, a negro, to pay the police court fine of a friend of the negro.

Chappell represented himself as a lawyer in order to get the money from Mullins, it was testified. Trial of the case occupied two days. The prosecution was conducted by John S. McClelland, newly installed solicitor of the city court, while A. C. Minibetti and Ed Hill, former assistant solicitors of the city court, represented the defendant.

On a plea of guilty to a charge of possessing whisky, Bob Luton was given a fine of $750. Judge Wood gave Luton a 12 months' suspended sentence in addition to the fine, with the warning that his next appearance in court would mean a straight sentence. Officers said that Luton was caught in the alleged act of delivering the whisky to a club.

BOX ASSAILS RASKOB IN HOUSE SPEECH

Would Oust Him as Head of the Democratic Party.

Washington, January 18.—(AP)—The declaration that if he were able to do so he would free the democratic party from "subverting influences and republican control" was made in the House today by Representative Box, of Texas, the minority whip, who recently recommended that the party nominate control of elements sympathetic to Alfred E. Smith.

Governor Smith may correctly estimate some of the people of some parts of the country, but in making the arrangement mentioned he demonstrates that he greatly underestimates the independence, self-respect and patriotism of the democratic hosts of the cities, towns and open spaces of America.

"Many democrats rebelled, party loyalty and insuperable objections to supporting the republican regime compelled many others to tighten their belts and endure the situation; but, I know them, they will not tamely permit themselves and their party to be thus enmeshed again."

Box said that he had supported Governor Smith in the campaign and that several years ago he had supported Governor Roosevelt for the vice presidency.

Box declared that reports that Raskob had been and was a republican had been denied so far as he knew.

"In many instances," he said, "the majority republican or democratic organization dominating the politics of certain regions has controlled the local party machinery of the opposing party, feeding minority leaders from the backdoors of the dominant bosses, holding the local minority organizations in vassalage and making it subservient to the usually unworthy purposes of the master machine."

"Early in the recent campaign democrats heard with dismay that their national party organization had been placed in charge of a master of finance of the republican party faith, who, without becoming a democrat, took charge of the discredited and perverted organization largely for the purpose of using it to repeal or emasculate the eighteenth amendment, ratify and cherish by every safe democratic state and overwhelmingly adopted by the nation in a constitutional way."

The officers were sent to the Sharpe domicile to carry out orders. Mrs. Sharpe was said to have threatened them with the gun and fired through the door when the party disrespected her warning. When Deputy P. O. Scarborough attempted to detain her she bit him on the finger, he testified.

New York Exchange Leader Defends Market Speculator

E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock exchange, on the left, and Phillip Alston, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce.

More than 250 prominent Atlanta financial leaders and business men gathered in the main assembly hall of the Chamber of Commerce building Friday afternoon to hear an address by E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, on "Financing Industrial Development." Mr. Simmons, who came here at the invitation of Milton Dargatzis, Jr., president and Phillip Alston, president of the chamber, arrived in the city Friday morning and was met by a large delegation, following which he was taken to the Baltimore hotel for dinner and a series of engagements.

One of the largest crowds ever assembled for a forum luncheon at the chamber heard the speaker defend the market speculator as a vital factor in industrial financing.

"Investors do not usually respond to new issues of stock. They prefer to fill their investment boxes with shares of stocks which have been traded on the exchange for years and for this reason, large industrial financing can rarely be done with the help of the outright investors alone and it is therefore necessary to have security speculators who will hold such issues until the market can become seasoned and can be absorbed by the investing public of the country. Efforts to curtail this practice would result inevitably in sharp check to economic progress," the speaker declared.

In proof of his statement, Mr. Simmons cited the instance of the stock of the United States Steel corporation. In 1900, he stated, only one-third of this stock was held by investors, the rest remaining in the possession of speculators. This ratio has been steadily changing, he stated, and in 1921 more than three-fourths of this stock was held by investors.

As an example of this kind of stock today which needs the speculator to carry it until it can be absorbed by investors, Mr. Simmons said: "Today we are witnessing the undoubted beginnings of commercial aviation in this country. What the end of this development will be no one can say for certain. Conservative investors to

ALLEGES TARIFF BODY GOT FALSE STATEMENT

Charge Is Made Against Reed Furniture Interests.

Washington, January 18.—(AP)—A charge by a New York importer that American manufacturers of reed furniture were deliberately presenting misleading information to obtain tariff increases was made today before the House ways and means committee hearings on tariff revision.

The allegation, made by Allan Gerdau, representing the Otto Gerdau company, of New York, resulted in a rapid fire of questions from both republicans and democrats on the committee, and finally the witness was asked to produce any concrete evidence he might possess.

Gerdau, a reed importer, declared the present duty of 20 per cent ad valorem on reeds was "discriminatory and monopolistic," and had cut his business in half. He said he was amazed at the testimony of manufacturers and asserted that 60 per cent of it was untrue for presentation.

Chairman Hawley interrupted to say that this was for the committee, not the witness, to determine. Gerdau also suggested a tariff rate for reeds, which he said was "discriminatory and monopolistic," and had cut his business in half. He said he was amazed at the testimony of manufacturers and asserted that 60 per cent of it was untrue for presentation.

Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking democrat on the committee, observed that if on any tariff revision testimony would be curtailed 10 per cent.

Representative Treadway, republican, Massachusetts, warned Gerdau that the manufacturers had the right to make similar charges against his company and that it appeared he was assuming the same "selfish interest" in the matter as others.

Gerdau insisted he was sure of his statements and added that one unnamed company had circulated petitions to its customers to seek tariff aid in the face of huge profits. Representative Crisp, democrat, Georgia, requested that he present any concrete evidence available.

The committee concluded hearings on the woods schedule today and began taking testimony from 35 witnesses which they report during the day and aside for consideration of the metals sections.

AID IS RUSHED TO QUAKE SCENE IN VENEZUELA

Caracas, Venezuela, January 18.—(AP)—Steamers and all the smaller craft available today were rushing toward the city of Cumana, which was leveled by an earthquake, with food and medical supplies, and tents. They were also carrying nurses and doctors to care for those injured.

Every building in the city was destroyed, the governor of Cumana informed President Gomez by wireless, adding that there were a great number of victims.

The newspaper Universal put the number of dead at 25, out of the city's population of about 25,000. The paper said a great number of injured persons were being taken from the ruins.

The earthquake severed telegraphic communication with the city and accounts were fragmentary regarding the extent of the disaster. Cumana is located about a mile above the mouth of the Manzanares river, about 25 miles east of Caracas. The raw products of the region are coffee, tobacco, sugar and rubber, while cotton goods manufacture is one of the chief industries.

Trial of N. C. Man For Killing Relative Is Near to Jury

Rocky Mount, N. C., January 18.—(AP)—Arguments to the jury were begun today in the trial of T. W. Fitts, charged with killing his brother-in-law, B. H. Farmer, after a political argument. It was expected that Judge Lyon would begin his charge late this afternoon, with the possibility that the jury would get the case by nightfall.

Fitts pleaded self-defense. He said his brother-in-law was advancing on him in a threatening manner when he fired to protect himself.

The state contended that Fitts fired without just provocation. The argument was said to have started over a political poster depicting a negro dictating a letter to a white woman. Fitts said he went to tear down the sign but feared to do so without arming himself first.

3 BANK EMPLOYEES SHOT BY BANDITS IN CHICAGO HOLDUP

Chicago, January 18.—(AP)—Three bank employees, including the cashier, assistant cashier and a policeman, were shot and wounded today in a pitched battle between the bank employees and five holdup men who rushed into the Franklin Trust and Savings bank in East Thirty-fifth street waving pistols. More than 50 shots were fired in the bank within five minutes. The robbers escaped with about $2,000.

The bank officers and employees, using desks as shields, fired on the robbers, who avoided bullets by grouping close to the wall along which the tellers' cages were ranged.

One robber disarmed the teller as he thrust his pistol through a window to fire. The robber reached into the cage, grabbed a bundle of bills and fled after his retreating companions.

Grilled by Defense Lawyer, Atlanta Girl Clings to Story Mechanic Killed Detective

Turning State's Evidence,
Helen Gentle Puts Blame for Murder on Vaughn in Columbia.

Columbia, S. C., January 18.—(AP) Charles R. Vaughn, Jacksonville, Fla., mechanic, today was named by Helen Gentle, Atlanta, as the slayer of Samuel J. Bickley, Columbia hotel detective, last October.

The woman, also under indictment on charges of murder in connection with the detective's death, turned state's evidence today, and, after naming Vaughn as the slayer in direct testimony, stuck to it through three hours of cross-examination.

"I have told the facts in the case and will stick to them," the woman declared in answer to the final question of John Hughes Cooper, defense attorney, shortly before court adjourned at 6 o'clock.

The young woman in direct testimony placed the entire responsibility for the slaying on Vaughn and told of her relations with him over a period of months. She declared the day before the detective was called from the hotel to an automobile in front and shot down, that Vaughn had rented a room in the hostelry and told her to stay in it until he returned from Charleston. That night the detective was slain.

Vigorous denial was entered by the woman when Mr. Cooper asked her if she had not decided to testify for the state under a "tacit agreement" for a "not guilty."

"I am here to tell the absolute truth," she replied. Throughout the long three hours of questioning by Mr. Cooper she steadfastly maintained that Vaughn fired the shot that killed Bickley.

Indications were tonight that the case would reach the jury tomorrow. Cooper said that his witnesses would not take more than two hours and the state attorney indicated that he might rest when court opened in the morning.

Vaughn, Cooper said, probably would take the stand in his own defense. Mrs. Ada May Vaughn, the defendant's mother and Mrs. Ruth Millsap, his sister, both of Jacksonville, sat with him through the day in which his former companion charged him with the slaying.

Vaughn appeared nervous throughout the young woman's testimony, mopping his face frequently with a handkerchief and at times vigorously shaking his head negatively at some of her statements.

Mrs. L. C. Gentle, of Atlanta, sat stoically through the revelations of her daughter.

IL DUCE LISTS JURISTS TO DRAFT ROMAN PACT

Rome, January 18.—(United News.)—Premier Mussolini has appointed seven distinguished jurists to examine the draft settlement of the Roman question and to prepare the document in its necessary legal form.

Although final announcement of the agreement between the holy see and the Italian government has not been made, apparently only the framing of the document's final form remains, an agreement on all points having been reached.

Inasmuch as the agreement, which gives the pope nominal sovereignty over a large tract of land near the present vatican, is of great historical importance, the premier is taking precautions to have it drawn up in the proper form. The final wording, of course, will be worked out in collaboration with the vatican.

Monsignor Eugenio Pacezilli, who occupies the post of consulting counsel to the vatican, undoubtedly will have a large part in the final document, which will release the pontiff from his voluntary imprisonment in the vatican and settle the dispute which has kept church and state apart since 1870, when the church lost its temporal power.

The negotiations, although carried on through an intermediary, virtually have been direct between Mussolini and Pope Pius. Pacezilli acted as the intermediary during the last few weeks.

Monsignor Borgognini-Duca, the papal undersecretary, when asked if he had signed the preliminary draft of the agreement in behalf of the vatican, said:

"I have signed nothing and discussed nothing. It is plain to see that the holy father is handling the negotiations personally as Cardinal Pietro Gasparri (chamberlain of the holy see) is ill and there are no others competent."

Under the terms of the agreement, which must yet be signed by the pontiff and by the premier, the holy see is extended and the pope granted sovereignty over some 11,000 persons. Italian civil authorities, however, will conduct the civil administration.

The church also is granted indemnity of $52,000,000 for confiscation of church property by the government in 1870.

PROFESSOR DENIES PAY FOR BOOK ON UTILITIES

Power Interests Did Not Contribute, Glaeser Tells Commission.

Washington, January 18.—(AP)—Three witnesses appeared today in the power utilities investigation being conducted by the federal trade commission, each to testify regarding subjects previously touched upon.

Martin G. Glaeser, professor of economics at the University of Wisconsin, was examined regarding his textbook, "Outlines of Public Utility Economics," which had been mentioned in the correspondence of some utility representatives previously introduced, as favorable to the points of view held by those connected with the industry.

He said no payments had been received by him from utility interests or any other source for writing the book, except the regular compensation for his work with the institute of research in land economics and public utilities, located at Northwestern university, which sponsored the publication. This was said by him to have received some support from the National Electric Light association since 1925.

Professor Richard T. Ely, of Northwestern, director of the institute, was examined prior to publication by a representative of the N. E. L. A., following which a paragraph in the preface was eliminated by request.

Glaeser said the material had been examined by one of several to whom the book had been submitted in manuscript form for critical suggestions. Changes proposed by them were of a minor nature in general, he added, and he had judged them all on their merits.

Wet Weather Is Probable; Mercury Soars

"Probable showers" is the weather prediction for today, but Atlanta was given some relief from the steady rains of the past few days, when, Friday afternoon, literally bursting forth from behind the clouds which have been so much in evidence recently.

Old Sol, in an effort to make up for lost time, sent the official thermometer soaring up to 72, within 4 degrees of the highest temperature ever recorded here in January, the record being 76 on January 12, 1927.

Mr. von Herrmann, however, stated that it was merely a temporary clearing off, and that a new low pressure area and corresponding disturbance in Texas would very likely bring about more precipitation here today, and that the mercury would start falling off by nightfall.

The minimum figure Friday was 49, and the low point this morning is expected to be about 60. Rains probably will prevent much of a climb, Mr. von Herrmann said, but the mercury reaching 68 the mercury will start on a downward path preparatory to registering a little more seasonable temperature.

ALA. BOY AND GIRL HELD ON CHARGE OF KILLING YOUTH

Birmingham, Ala., January 18.—(AP)—Charged with murder in connection with the fatal shooting two weeks ago of Ellis Dement, 16, near the Jefferson-Shelby county line, Miss Ella Batten, 16, and Otis Patterson, 17, were in the county jail here awaiting preliminary trial.

A. C. Dement, father of the dead youth, has declared his belief that his son was a victim of foul play, but has advanced no motive for the shooting. He swore to warrants for the arrest of the young girl and Patterson in the justice court at Leeds yesterday and immediately requested Coroner J. D. Russell to reopen his investigation. Dement said his suspicions were aroused by the absence of powder burns about the wound in his son's neck, which Miss Batten and Patterson contended was self-inflicted accidentally.

At the coroner's inquest Miss Batten and Patterson said they were en route with her mother and Dement to the residence of Willie Batten, a brother, with whom they made her home. Dement, his three companions said, was twirling a small calibre rifle on his finger when the weapon discharged, the bullet entering his neck. He died before medical assistance reached him. The witnesses said they did not see the gun fire because they were walking in advance of Dement.

Dement was a resident of Dunnaway, Shelby county, near the residence of the Battens. Patterson's home is at Leeds, Jefferson county.

MURDER CHARGES AGAINST BOY, GIRL VOIDED BY COURT

Birmingham, Ala., January 18.—(AP)—Charges of murder against Ella Batten, 16, and Otis Patterson, 17, in connection with the death on January 4 of Ellis Dement, were dismissed late today by Judge W. L. Kelly, the latter holding that insufficient evidence was presented.

The two defendants were immediately released from jail after having been in custody for a week. The dismissal of the charges came in a preliminary hearing at Leeds inferior court.

Ellis Dement was shot and killed by a bullet from a .22 calibre rifle, the coroner returning a verdict at the time of accidental death.

Anniversary of the Birth of Robert Edward Lee

—In the book of his life there are no pages to be forgotten. Every chapter is illuminated by strong mentality, lovable personality, unflinching sense of duty.

Whether

Cadet at West Point,
"Marse Robert" at Arlington,
Colonel in the Mexican War,
Commander of the Confederate troops,
President of Washington and Lee University—his distinction lay in a right to many titles: gentleman, soldier, leader, statesman, great-hearted patriot.

In the South's darkest days he gave himself unreservedly to her. But the greatness of the man now bids his native section lend his memory to a nation.

Keith's Georgia.

United Artists latest synchronized picture, "The Awakening," starring Vilma Banky, will be shown at Keith's Georgia today for the last four times. Miss Banky, in the role of a peasant, gives a fine performance, one that is quite different from her other pictures. On the stage, Bob Murphy, master of ceremonies, with his line of chatter and gags, keeps the audience laughing from the time he enters until he makes his exit.

Loew's Capitol.
 Four performances of the vaudeville show headed by Saranoff and company will be offered Saturday at Loew's Capitol theater. Saranoff is a European comedian supported by a big company of singers and dancers in a new version of "Tenk You!" Other acts on the bill are Barrett and Guncen, rule comedians; Lillian Bernard and Flo Henrie, singers; the Five Harmonies, vocalists; a Russian peasant in the role of a Russian peasant; and a new version of "Tenk You!"

Howard.
 Today is the last day to see "The Red Dance," in which Dolores Del Rio, the Mexican beauty, reigns supreme in the role of a Russian peasant girl bent upon revenge and instead finds romance and love. Opposite her is Charles Farrell as a dashing young man, while Ivan Linow gives an excellent performance as a Russian captain who befriends the girl. Also on the bill is Tridie Frigauza, famed vaudeville comedienne, in a clever and humorous sketch.

Metropolitan.
 Terminating its engagement at the Metropolitan today is one of the most entertaining motion pictures to grace a local screen in quite some time. It is "Naughty Baby," starring dainty, vivacious Alice White in the story of a millionaire's child who wanted to be a girl. The picture is a part of the program, and so is Florence Brady, phenomenal blues singer, seen and heard in a Vitaphone act.

Loew's Grand.
 Last showing of the present engagement of "The Air Circus" will be offered at Loew's Grand theatre Saturday. This is a unique production presenting many thrilling feats of aviation. It is hailed as the epic of the air and is offered by a star cast of players.

Empire.
 Hoot Gibson, master of horse and saddle, not to mention guns, is stars in "Clearing the Trail," a romantic thriller of the west with Dorothy Gulliver in the leading role at the Empire theatre today, corner Georgia avenue and Crew streets. Gibson is famous for his faculty not only of carrying the heaviest and most impressive of western loads in excellent style, but also injecting a bit of clever comedy.

"RADIO SAM," NEGRO SHOW, ENTERTAINS LARGE AUDIENCE
 Presenting a brilliant cast of colored performers, "Radio Sam" played before an unusually large audience at 81 Pecan Street theater Friday night in a midnight frolic for white persons only.

There was not a stale moment during the entire show and every part was far above the average, with the finale the real riot of the show. The last act was a "jazz marriage" and proved the big feature. Highlights in the show were produced by Harry Brock, "Rags" Cole, Eva De Long and Julia Davis. They were ably assisted in several parts by a well organized and efficient band. In Harry Brock and "Rags" Cole, the show presented two of the cleverest comedians seen here in months. They came unheralded but long before the crowd began yelling for more of their comedy bits. Cole also in an eccentric dance number that brought applause from the audience.

ACTIVITIES OF PARKS WILL BE CURTAILED

Development To Suffer This Year, Declares Chairman White.

Park development and recreational activities sponsored by the Atlanta city government in 1929 will be curtailed to a marked degree, despite the fact that last year the acreage in park property was doubled, it was announced Friday by Councilman John A. White, of the fourth ward, and chairman of the parks committee of city council.

This policy will be necessary because the January finance sheet, prepared Thursday by the finance committee of city council, failed to carry funds for expansion, improvements or operation. Allocations for park purposes were actually reduced. The retrenchment policy which must be carried out probably will prevent operation of a summer playground system in Atlanta and will force swimming pools to be opened for shorter hours than formerly, Mr. White added.

Will Support Sheet.
 "I shall support the finance sheet as prepared because I believe the committee did its best with the limited amount of funds available," Mr. White said, "but I feel it my duty to warn citizens that every phase of the recreational system will be operated on a much more curtailed program than was expected."

"I am informed that every other department of the city government also was cut to the minimum in order to balance the sheet. I, therefore, should not make a fight against the sheet when we know the city has not and will not get sufficient revenue to permit expansion. The situation is deplorable and should command the attention of every official and citizen of the city. Something must be done to acquire additional revenue if Atlanta is to retain her place in the forefront of large cities of the nation and her proud place as the metropolitan city of the south."

Mr. White's comments were directed at the action of the finance committee Thursday in allocating $10,400,000 in revenue, only for operation and maintenance of departments. Every single development, improvement, salary raise and other expansions were culled from the list of projected improvements which were approved by the finance committee because of the drain on the treasury of actual operating expenses.

Committee Meets Monday.
 On the heels of the announcement by Mr. White, Mayor I. N. Ragsdale called an organization meeting of the special committee of citizens he has named to assist in injecting more economical and businesslike methods into administration of the city government for 1929 Monday afternoon.

This committee will name a special subcommittee of four members to confer with special committees from the council finance committee and the department of public works on the subject of financing the Atlanta public school system, which, it is said, requires about 53 per cent of the net current revenue of the city for maintenance, operation and retirement of school bonds and interest.

The January finance sheet will be offered to city council at a meeting slated for 3 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Members of Commission.
 Members of the citizens' commission, named by Mr. Ragsdale, are: Ben S. Read, W. L. Stanley, R. B. Parnum, Lewis H. Beall, William H. Glenn, W. M. Brownlee, H. C. Worthen, Robert George, George S. Harris, T. W. Pitt, Robert S. Parker, George Machomont, C. F. Palmer, Robert F. Maddox, H. Y. McDord, Herbert E. Choate, J. Sid Tiller, William Van Houten, Joseph H. Hirsch, W. J. Davis, B. L. Hugg, F. J. Paxon, Law Ashcraft, J. D. Robinson and R. R. Otis.

All have accepted the appointment and actual work on a survey of various departments of the city government is being begun immediately after organization, it is expected.

Several departments of the government have addressed letters to Mr. Ragsdale promising to cooperate with the commission. These include the city tax assessors office, the purchasing agent and the office of the city controller.

PRISON QUIZ MAY BAR RISE OF WILLEBRANDT

Report of Committee May Prove Serious Obstacle to Promotion.

Washington, D. C., January 18.—(Special.)—The forthcoming report of the prison investigating committee of the house of representatives on conditions in the federal penitentiaries is expected to place a serious obstacle in the way of the confirmation of Assistant Attorney General Mark Walker Willebrandt for any high office to which he may be appointed. This report, dealing primarily with conditions in the Atlanta penitentiary, now in course of preparation, but is known to it will strongly commend the administration of Warden John W. Snook, and will censure Mrs. Willebrandt for the methods used in attempting to bribe about his recently adopted system of placing "undercover" agents of the department of justice in the federal penitentiaries.

To Bear Letter.
 The report will make public for the first time the confidential letter signed by Mrs. Willebrandt and addressed to each of the wardens of the federal penitentiaries announcing that the practice of placing undercover agents in the federal penitentiaries was adopted by the department of justice and that the prison administrations would be kept under constant surveillance by this method in the future.

Senator William E. Borah, who has taken a special interest in this case because of the fact that Snook for some time has been warden of the Idaho state penitentiary, has characterized the use of such undercover agents as "an attempt to introduce the worst methods of the infamous Russian police system into the United States." As soon as the report of the house committee is available he is expected to bring the matter to the attention of the senate and demand that the use of such spies be stopped.

It could not be learned whether or not the house committee would comment on the charge that the federal penitentiaries were being run on a basis of "undercover" agents. The falsification of government documents is a serious offense. It is alleged, false commitment papers were prepared in the case of William Larsen, the agent of the department of justice who was sent to Atlanta under the name of Peter Hanson. It is possible that the committee will further investigation to determine what official of the department of justice assumed the responsibility for this act.

May Oppose Condemnation.
 Representative John G. Cooper, of Ohio, chairman of the committee, indicated today that republican members of the special committee may oppose and report on the part of minority members to have the committee include a pronounced condemnation of the woman assistant attorney general's activities. Without discussing the charges against Mrs. Willebrandt, he explained that there was some doubt as to the scope of the committee's authority to go into the matter.

The committee, it was pointed out, was appointed for the purpose of investigating federal prisons with a view of making recommendations to relieve congested conditions. It was after the inquiry started that the Snook incident came to light.

On the other hand certain members of the committee, including Representative Thomas M. Bell, of Georgia, and Representative John J. Boylan, of New York, feel that it is entirely within their scope to report fully into the case and are prepared to urge this when the preliminary report is discussed. In support of the contention they point out that much of the evidence against Mrs. Willebrandt was obtained by the committee during its hearings in Atlanta during the congressional recess if it of the report went into the subject then it should report its findings now, they argue.

To Press Matter.
 At any rate Representative Bell and the New York congressman are insisting to an investigation of the body meets Tuesday and indications are that a minority report will be filed by them in the event majority members won't allow a full discussion in the next report.

As one of those who suggested the calling of Mrs. Willebrandt, Representative Bell said he thought the committee should investigate the actions of the federal district judge at Detroit who was required to have signed false commitment papers on which the woman assistant attorney general was placed in the Atlanta penitentiary, only to be discovered later and routed out by Warden Snook.

First news of the planting of the "spies" in the Atlanta federal penitentiary was carried to the public through The Constitution in a series of exclusive stories, and created a national sensation.

William Larsen, the department of justice agent, was committed to the institution from Detroit under a bogus name, and was placed in the Atlanta penitentiary under the name of Peter Hanson.

Thomas C. Wilcox, head of the department of justice office at Detroit, and Larsen communicated with each other in code messages, and Wilcox later was assigned by Washington officials to a probe of the local prison. He came here to Atlanta under the name of Peter Hanson.

PRISON QUIZ MAY BAR RISE OF WILLEBRANDT

Report of Committee May Prove Serious Obstacle to Promotion.

Washington, D. C., January 18.—(Special.)—The forthcoming report of the prison investigating committee of the house of representatives on conditions in the federal penitentiaries is expected to place a serious obstacle in the way of the confirmation of Assistant Attorney General Mark Walker Willebrandt for any high office to which he may be appointed. This report, dealing primarily with conditions in the Atlanta penitentiary, now in course of preparation, but is known to it will strongly commend the administration of Warden John W. Snook, and will censure Mrs. Willebrandt for the methods used in attempting to bribe about his recently adopted system of placing "undercover" agents of the department of justice in the federal penitentiaries.

To Bear Letter.
 The report will make public for the first time the confidential letter signed by Mrs. Willebrandt and addressed to each of the wardens of the federal penitentiaries announcing that the practice of placing undercover agents in the federal penitentiaries was adopted by the department of justice and that the prison administrations would be kept under constant surveillance by this method in the future.

Senator William E. Borah, who has taken a special interest in this case because of the fact that Snook for some time has been warden of the Idaho state penitentiary, has characterized the use of such undercover agents as "an attempt to introduce the worst methods of the infamous Russian police system into the United States." As soon as the report of the house committee is available he is expected to bring the matter to the attention of the senate and demand that the use of such spies be stopped.

It could not be learned whether or not the house committee would comment on the charge that the federal penitentiaries were being run on a basis of "undercover" agents. The falsification of government documents is a serious offense. It is alleged, false commitment papers were prepared in the case of William Larsen, the agent of the department of justice who was sent to Atlanta under the name of Peter Hanson. It is possible that the committee will further investigation to determine what official of the department of justice assumed the responsibility for this act.

May Oppose Condemnation.
 Representative John G. Cooper, of Ohio, chairman of the committee, indicated today that republican members of the special committee may oppose and report on the part of minority members to have the committee include a pronounced condemnation of the woman assistant attorney general's activities. Without discussing the charges against Mrs. Willebrandt, he explained that there was some doubt as to the scope of the committee's authority to go into the matter.

The committee, it was pointed out, was appointed for the purpose of investigating federal prisons with a view of making recommendations to relieve congested conditions. It was after the inquiry started that the Snook incident came to light.

On the other hand certain members of the committee, including Representative Thomas M. Bell, of Georgia, and Representative John J. Boylan, of New York, feel that it is entirely within their scope to report fully into the case and are prepared to urge this when the preliminary report is discussed. Big 10 Breaks Athletic Club Off Relations Plays Albany With A. A. U. Here Tonight

Every Member of Conference Agrees To Withdraw From Athletic Body.

BY PAUL R. MICKELSON.
 Chicago, January 18.—(AP)—The western conference has broken off relations with the Amateur Athletic Union of America and henceforth will conduct its own athletic meets independently. Major John L. Griffith, conference athletic commissioner, revealed today.

The action, which Major Griffith said was agreed to by every member of the conference, culminates a quarrel between the two organizations, which has been simmering for years but which reached its breaking point this past week when Northwestern university and Ohio State rebelled at A. A. U. policies.

Northwestern decided to break with the A. A. U. when the latter organization refused to sanction a contest between Northwestern and the Chicago Athletic association because several of its swimmers had competed in an unsanctioned meet last summer. Ohio State followed suit yesterday when it decided to run the Ohio relays without seeking A. A. U. sanction as in the past.

No longer will the western conference stand under the yoke of the A. A. U., Major Griffith told the Associated Press.

"We are tired of its continual domination and its get-at-all-attempts to dominate our affairs," he said. "We will conduct athletic meets with clubs and teams that we choose and will step out of the A. A. U. ranks. It will be our duty to see that the A. A. U. is not able to obtain the heretofore required sanction."

The western conference is big enough to handle its own athletic affairs. It does not wish to govern itself by the A. A. U. and it is not willing to be governed by the A. A. U. It will strictly adhere to the amateur rules, of course, but will be totally independent of A. A. U. sanction. The A. A. U. was organized 40 years ago with a noble purpose—to foster amateur athletics. During the past decade, however, it has overstepped its bounds and acted as a mauler on the progress of amateur athletics. The western conference can brook its interference no longer.

PURDUE CAGER NEAR 'BIG TEN' POINT RECORD
 Chicago, January 18.—(AP)—Purdue's "big point" of the hardwoods, Charles "Stretch" Murphy, has started out with a bang in the Big Ten basketball season. In his first game, he scored 21 points, a record for individual scoring in Big Ten basketball this season.

In four championship games, the six-foot six-inch, 160-pound center has looped 61 points, or 72 points less than the all-time individual record, which was established by Johnny Miner, of Ohio State, in 1925. With eight more games still to play, Murphy needs but nine points a contest to tie the mark.

He apparently has clinched Big Ten scoring honors for 1929, as he is 22 points ahead of his nearest rival and teammate, Glen Harneson, boiler-maker forward from Chicago.

Another mark he is shooting at is the one for the most field goals tossed in a season. This was established by "Chuck" Carney, of Illinois, who caged 60 in 1921. Murphy has bagged 21 field goals and 19 free throws.

Against Chicago this season, Murphy broke the Big Ten record by scoring in one game. In the first Chicago contest he scored 11 field goals and three free throws. A week later he bagged 10 field goals and five free throws to better his previous record.

 Phillips Finlay, Longest Driving Amateur in America, Tells Secret of His Success With Long Shots

BY PHILLIPS FINLAY
 Former National Semi-Finalist
 Written Exclusively for The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.
 (Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Mr. Finlay, one of the finest of the younger golfers in the United States, has been a consistent performer in the last few national championships. He is known as the longest driving amateur in America, and his ball off the tee is as far as the most powerful professionals. He was formerly a member of the Shinnecock Hills Country club, and is now a student at Harvard.

THE DRIVE.
 Driving has a tendency to be over-emphasized. Long tee shots have paved the way for many a championship, but too much stress can be placed upon them. Though my drive has attracted more attention than any other part of my game, it is also my most troublesome shot.

I always hit the ball with nearly all my strength, for whenever I try to ease up the shot is a failure. The whole secret of my distance lies in the accurate timing of weight shifting with the delayed wrist snap. I use a long, arched swing, taking the club head back slowly. The left arm is kept unusually straight with very supple wrists, allowing the club to swing back in a deep, horizontal, shifting weight.

The shift is caused by throwing the whole body weight on the right foot at the top of the swing without moving the head, and then swinging the left foot to the left just before and during the impact.

This should not be construed as a wide stance, playing the ball off my left foot, or the ball high, and hit on the upswing, with a slightly left driver which weighs 1-2 ounces. The swing is flat, rather than upright.

It is a drive which is shorter than the one he had there would have made it impossible to reach the green with a spoon or brassie, and he would have had to be content with a par five. Jones hit shots like that when they are necessary. There are several professionals and amateurs can hit a shot like a given shot, under conditions that are equal, but only one in a hundred can hit a shot like that and day after day.

SCORE IS 21-19

Macon, Ga., January 18.—(Special.)—Led by Captain Leroy Young, Macon's Lanier Poets again established themselves as strong contenders for the G. I. A. A. basketball crown by downing a team of veterans from Boys' High school, of Atlanta, by the close score of 21 to 19 here tonight.

Lanier took an early lead in the game which was never overcome by the visitors but which was threatened all during the hectic battle. The Wore at the half was Lanier 14; Boyd 10.

High Captain Young alone scored 21 of the Poets' 21 points and played an excellent defensive game. The Attackers tried to keep the little running guard from hauling in the ball to any extent but it seemed almost an impossibility. Ralph Buice, center and fullback for the Poets, was another star for the look-alike, tallying three field goals for six points.

"Kitts" Kats and Pattin' forward for the Purple Burgundy, were the only players to score. They scored five points each and were the only ones of the fray all the time. "Red" Wynne played good defensive basketball at back guard.

THE APES OF THE APES No. 12

When the tribe saw Kerchak's rage had ceased, they came slowly down from their arboreal retreats. They had passed an hour or so pursuing again their various occupations when Kerchak called them together and with a word of command to them to follow him, set off toward the sea.

And all the way Kala carried her little dead baby hugged closely to her breast. Shortly after noon they reached a ridge overlooking the beach where below them lay the tiny cottage which was Kerchak's goal. He had made up his mind to explore the interior of that mysterious den.

He wanted very much to own that little black stick that had often roared out its terrible message of death to some members of the tribe. Today there was no sign of the man about. Slowly, cautiously and noiselessly they crept through the jungle toward the little cabin.

Kerchak himself slunk slowly to the very door and peered within. Behind him were two males and then Kala clasping her dead babe. They saw the strange white ape lying flat across a table and a figure covered by a sail cloth. A plaintive wailing came from a tiny cradle.

Kerchak entered. Graystone rose with a sudden start and faced them. The sight that met his eyes must have frozen him with horror! His revolvers and rifle hung on the far wall. Within the door stood three great bull apes. Behind them crowded many more—HOW MANY HE NEVER KNEW.

County Placed on Basis Of Most Rigid Economy For Ensuing 12 Months

Faced by Problem of Saving $500,000, Public Works Committee Calls Off Monthly Meetings.

With the problem of saving at least $500,000 facing Fulton county during 1929, regular monthly meetings of the public works committee of the county commission have been called off indefinitely. It was announced by Walter B. Stewart, chairman of the committee, following the monthly meeting Friday. This action was taken because of the numerous requests for the committee is unable to grant.

Members of the committee voted to adjourn sine die, subject to the call of the chairman, and it will be at least three or four months before the next meeting will be called. Mr. Stewart said. This action of the committee will not affect the regular meetings of the commission, however, and petitions will be received as usual at the regular sessions of the county commission, the next meeting to be held on February 6, Mr. Stewart pointed out.

Finances Emphasized.

The county's financial position was emphasized Friday afternoon by the statement of Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the commission, that the board has decided to adopt a strict policy this year of declining to grant requests for funds for the entertainment of delegates to meetings, as has been the custom in the past, because of the great need for strict economy. The board set a precedent for the year in voting not to appropriate funds to aid in the program of the southeastern agricultural congress which has been called for the latter part of the month at the state capital, it was pointed out.

In a special session of the commission following the public works meeting, the board decided not to rescind its action of the previous meeting in replacing Dr. L. H. Goldsmith as medical examiner for the county schools. This action was taken when the board turned down a petition of the county health board to rescind the previous action and to defer any action toward discharging Dr. Goldsmith at least until the end of the school term.

Chairman Etheridge said that Charles B. Shelton, county attorney, had informed him that the board of health had the authority of electing the school medical examiner although the board had not been exercising that right. Dr. W. F. Wells, chairman of the county health board, said that the action of the board in replacing Dr. Goldsmith without consulting the health board was "a slap in the face of one dignified body by another board." When the motion to decline the request in the health board's petition was passed, Chairman Etheridge asked to be recorded as voting in the negative.

Contributions Approved.

The board approved the annual contributions to the 122nd infantry, national guard, of $2,500; and to troop C, 108th cavalry, of $1,200, the sums to be payable monthly. Requests that the county grade the sites of the North avenue school in Hapeville, and high school and grammar school sites in East Point were referred to the chairman of public works with power to act. The request for grading of the Booker T. Washington school grounds, and the city's request that the county grade 34,000 yards of dirt at city school also were referred to the public works committee.

Requests that Roxboro road from Cheshire Bridge road to the present paving on Roxboro road be paved and Cheshire Bridge road be repaired, and that Simpson street, from Marietta to Luckie, Alexander street, from Marietta to Venetian, and Venetian to Marietta, and Techwood drive from the end of the new pavement to Harris street, be paved were referred to the public works committee for reports on possible early action.

Coolidge Signs Bill Giving to Florida Third Judgeship

Washington, January 18.—(AP)—President Coolidge today signed a bill creating an additional judgeship in the southern district of Florida.

Jacksonville, Fla., January 18.—(AP)—The action of President Coolidge today in signing a bill for the creation of an additional federal judgeship for the southern district of Florida gives the state three federal judges, but at present only one of them is filled.

Lake Jones, of Jacksonville, is the only regular federal judge on the bench in Florida now since the death more than a year ago of Judge Rhydon M. Call, whose successor has not been appointed.

Chairman Etheridge said that Charles B. Shelton, county attorney, had informed him that the board of health had the authority of electing the school medical examiner although the board had not been exercising that right. Dr. W. F. Wells, chairman of
